

President Goes Vote-Hunting In Kansas City

Penthouse In Hotel Gives Relaxation

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
KANSAS CITY — (AP)—President Truman assumed the role of Jackson county squire today to go vote-hunting in the country in which he grew up.

Here, among members of his family and friends of his boyhood, he found relaxation for the first time since the Communists invaded South Korea.

Berates GOP Foe

He called in, to his Penthouse suite in the Hotel Muehlebach, the politicians upon whom he relies for victory in the election in which he will vote Tuesday in nearby Independence.

Everything they told him, according to presidential associates, indicates the election of former Democratic Representative Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., over Republican Senator Forrest C. Donnell in the Missouri senatorial race.

The President fought Hennings hard in the Democratic primary but Mr. Truman's man, Emory Allison, was nosed out, and he has concentrated his fire on Donnell, one of the outspoken foes of the Truman fair deal.

Final Talk Today

Mr. Truman climaxed the Democratic campaign Saturday night with a fighting speech in Kiel auditorium in St. Louis, scene of the last vote appeal of the 1948 campaign which brought his spectacular victory.

He makes his final talk—before Tuesday's voting—in a radio address to the nation at 3:45 p. m. (EST) today.

This address, from the Memorial auditorium in his home town of Independence, will be carried through the nation.

The occasion will be the dedication of a liberty bell presented to Independence by Anney, France, where the President fought as Captain of Battery D, of the 129th Field Artillery in World War I.

Steel Workers Go After Raise

Dickers For 155,000 Reach Final Round

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—The U. S. Steel Corporation and the United Steel Workers Union (CIO) today enter what may prove to be the final round of wage negotiations for the company's 155,000 production and maintenance employees.

Any wage boost granted the U. S. Steel Workers would have an effect on:

1. Pay talks the union is conducting with other steel firms.

2. The prices of hundreds of products manufactured from the steel those companies produce.

Phillip Murray, CIO and USW president, has indicated he wants a "healthy and substantial" wage hike for the million members of the Steelworkers union who now average $17.00 an hour. Industry and union sources say they believe he has asked U. S. Steel to grant the workers 25 cents more an hour.

Pig iron was raised $3 a gross ton on Saturday by four U. S. Steel subsidiaries—Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, American Steel and Wire Company, Geneva Steel Company, and National Steel Company.

Fair Deal Shoved Into Background As Election Issue

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Political Reporter

The 1950 congressional campaign winds up today on a foreign policy note which made virtually a forgotten issue of President Truman's once hotly debated "fair deal" program.

In final appeals to the voters, both major parties stressed international questions despite strong indications that many Senate and House races—as well as some governorships—are likely to be settled on strictly local situations.

Upset Possible

The consensus of political observers seemed to be that the results of tomorrow's balloting would provide no change in Democratic control of the houses of Congress.

However, the experts left room for a last-minute crystallization of sentiment that might be reflected in a surprising trend. The possibility that the recent adverse turn of the Korean war would

Ruler Of Tibet Still In Lhasa

Communists Regroup For Further Attack

NEW DELHI, India — (AP)—India has been advised that Tibet's 16-year-old ruler, the Dalai Lama, and his government of Buddhist priests still control Lhasa, the Tibetan capital.

This report yesterday from India's representative in Lhasa, Dr. S. Sinha, contradicted persistent rumors stemming from Tibetan traders that the boy ruler and his elderly regent, Takpa Rimpoche, had fled before invading Chinese Communist armies.

Dr. Sinha's report heartened official sources who had felt that the swift collapse of the Tibetan government was imminent. The Indian government had told Dr. Sinha India would give asylum to any legitimate refugees from Tibet.

Of the military situation, the report said only that Communist troops were regrouping for further attacks after the capture of Chamdo, major caravan center 350 air miles east and north of Lhasa.

Convict Flees With Warden's Suit And $32

To be elected are 32 state governors, 36 U. S. senators and 432 U. S. representatives — the full house membership except for three Maine seats, filled by Republicans in a Sept. 11 election.

Blamed For High Prices
State election and party officials have estimated that some 42,000,000 votes may be cast. That would be a record for a non-presidential year. Prospects were that the weather would be favorable in most sections of the country.

Senator Taft of Ohio, known widely as "Mr. Republican," was the latest to add his voice to the chorus on international issues which President Truman stressed with his Saturday night speech in St. Louis and which Harold Stassen promptly took up for the Republicans.

Taft charged in a transcribed radio speech broadcast by seven Ohio stations yesterday that President Truman had "killed" the bipartisan foreign policy shortly after the 1948 presidential election.

Climaxing a battle with State Auditor Joseph Ferguson in the Ohio senate race, Taft also charged the Truman administration with responsibility for high prices and high taxes.

But this seemed only a side issue to Taft's assertion that the Truman administration "has lost the peace after the American people won the war."

Telephone Replaces Election Campaign Oratory In Michigan

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—The tinkle of the telephone today began to replace the blare of oratory as Michigan prepared to vote in Tuesday's state election—the most bitterly contested in years.

As the campaigners climbed down from the stump the party workers took over the almost endless task of telephoning their neighbors: "Don't forget to vote tomorrow!"

May Go To 2,000,000

And when the long lines at the big city polling places finally dwindle away Tuesday night, experts expect that at least 1,800,000 persons will have voted—the biggest off-year election in history.

Some think the vote may even go to 2,000,000—only about 100,000 short of the presidential election year record of 1948.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, the liberal-socialist who built a "little fair deal" for Michigan, and Harry F. Kelly, the vote-getting white hope of the Republican party, were still in-fighting at the bell.

They centered their final punches in the metropolitan area where the election can be won or lost.

For Kelly it was a fight to save the state from "Socialism," the goal which he says Williams has

Uphill Battle Faced By GOP In 32 States

Democrats Lead In Governorship, 29-19

By OLIVER W. DEWOLF

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Republicans face an uphill fight tomorrow to wrest majority control of the nation's state capitals from the Democrats who now have a 29 to 19 edge in governorships.

There are 32 governor's chairs at stake in tomorrow's balloting, 17 held by Democrats and 15 by Republicans. To tip the national scales in their favor, Republicans must pick up six Democratic statehouses, while retaining all of their own 15 in contest.

No Chance In South

This would represent nearly a 33 1/3 percent gain in itself. Actually, the job is a lot tougher than this figure would indicate. Here is why:

In three Democratic states — Georgia, South Carolina and Tennessee—the Republicans have no candidate. In four others—Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Rhode Island—a responsible GOP spokesman, who asked to remain anonymous, has conceded that the Republicans have no chance.

This narrows from 17 to 10 the Democratic states apparently open to assault and the Republican chieftains boil down to capturing six of these, or 60 per cent, while losing none of their own. Any Republican loss will have to be offset by another gain at Democratic expense.

Not Impossible

While obviously uphill, the job is not impossible as the Democrats demonstrated two years ago. Then, as now, 32 governorships were on the November ballot. The Republicans held 18 and the Democrats 14.

The Democrats won Republican chairs in Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana and Ohio, while losing control in Utah and Washington. The net gain was six.

Of the eight, only Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan and Ohio are in contest this year.

An appraisal of the other side of the ledger gives no indication that the Democrats will duplicate their 1948 feat. On the contrary, the pickings appear to be scarce.

An authoritative Democratic spokesman who has been keeping a close check on the gubernatorial races, concedes that only eight of the 15 GOP-controlled states are in much doubt.

Killer Hunted At St. Joseph

Neighbor Questioned In Wife Strangling

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — (AP)—A neighbor who borrowed a wrench from pretty, 21-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Kelm last Friday faces a lie detector test in the police investigation of her slaying.

Berrien county sheriff Erwin Kubath said Arthur Hardin, 44, was being held.

Hardin told Kubath he borrowed the tool from the young mother about 9 a. m., and tried to return it to her at 3 p. m.—not long after an assailant strangled her and left her nearly-nude body in Hickory Creek nearby.

Mrs. Kelm's body was found several hours later, after her husband, Otto, returned from work to find her home badly disordered and their two-year-old son crying.

"Hardin has told us he went back to the Kelm home with his son, Clarence, 12, at about 3 p. m. to return the wrench," Kubath said.

"He says there was no answer to his knock and that Clarence's son screaming, Hardin says he went back to the house at about 5 p. m., with his 13-year-old daughter, Margaret, but no one answered her knock."

"We want to question the children to see if they can verify their father's statements."

World Capitals Watching Tense New Situation

MacArthur Reports Communist Menace

(By The Associated Press)

SEOUL, Korea — (AP)—American troops in northwest Korea this afternoon recovered a half-mile of ground lost to a morning Communist attack and fought bitterly for no gain in the northeast against an enemy newly identified by General MacArthur as Chinese Reds.

Elements of two U. S. divisions holding the bridgehead area north of the Chongchon river near Korea's west coast recovered the territory lost to the Reds six miles north of Anju.

They were shoved back and estimated half-mile by Communists who attacked in darkness at 4:30 a. m. but were finally halted at 7 a. m.

Feint Stopped Cold

An earlier enemy feint at the bridgehead Sunday night had been stopped cold by American artillery. Australian troops of the British Commonwealth brigade also halted a stab by two Red companies in a heavy fire-fight.

Otherwise the northwest flank was described as relatively quiet Monday, compared with the big actions of last week that caused a 50-mile American withdrawal.

Five Russian-made YAK fighter planes ineffectively strafed part of the South Korean Sixth division on that front near Kumu late Monday.

Picture Grim

In the northeast, U. S. Marines beat back a bitter Chinese counter-attack in slashing, hand-to-hand combat Monday just south of the Changjin power reservoir. The Marine drive towards that dam failed to gain ground for the fourth consecutive day, U. S. Tenth corps headquarters announced.

This generally grim picture of the Korean war was attributed by General MacArthur to intervention of Chinese Communist troops.

In an extraordinary communique issued only a few hours earlier MacArthur referred only to "alien Communist forces" and branded their intervention in Korea as "one of the most offensive acts of international lawlessness" in history.

Repeal Pushed For Labor Law

Taft-Hartley Act Is Election Issue

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Senator Murray (D-Mont.) said today that if tomorrow's election comes out as he expects, there will be a renewed drive in the next Congress to repeal the Taft-Hartley act.

Murray, who heads a Senate labor subcommittee investigating labor-management relations, told a reporter he thinks the election results will demonstrate that the voters want the Taft-Hartley law wiped off the books.

"Some day it is going to be repealed by Congress and the Wagner act restored, with some modifications," the Montana senator declared. "It will be a political issue as long as it is on the books."

Murray conceded that it will be difficult to get up any steam behind a repeal drive if the election results don't support his theory that labor is gaining political strength in the country.

In recent weeks, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) has been bearing down on his defense of the Taft-Hartley act. Taft's critics, on the other hand, have shown signs of soft-peddling the law as an issue by concentrating on other points in the Ohioan's record.

Taft's reelection would be almost certain to be regarded by many in Congress as indicating that there isn't the popular sentiment behind Taft-Hartley repeal that labor leaders have counted upon.

Korean War Crisis Gravest In History For United Nations

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP)—The United States today called for a special security council meeting Wednesday to consider the intervention of Red China in the Korean war.

The meeting was requested shortly after Gen. Douglas MacArthur formally reported to the council that Chinese Communist troops had crossed into Korea and were fighting U. N. troops.

U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross said the delay in the council meeting was to give the delegates a chance for private consultations on the "serious" situation.

MacArthur's charges were made in a special report transmitted to the council by Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin.

A U. N. decision to label the Red Peiping government aggressors and order a full-scale military effort to drive its troops out of Korea could conceivably touch off a chain of events that might lead ultimately to another world war.

Strategy Upset

U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin will formally notify the world organization today of General MacArthur's charges that Chinese Communists have crossed into Korea in force from Manchuria and are battling U. N. troops.

MacArthur's statement said the U. N. had almost won complete victory in Korea when the new forces, with vast reserves across the border in Manchuria, upset the strategic picture. He said they must be destroyed.

Austin will circulate copies of the MacArthur communique, but a spokesman said last night the U. S. had not yet decided whether to press formal charges against the Communist Peiping government.

Compromise Suggested

The Security Council has a session scheduled for this afternoon where Austin could demand U. N. action if the United States decides this is the best policy.

Among suggested actions, it was reported in Washington, is a possible offer to continue the sale of electric power to Manchuria from North Korea if Red Chinese troops go home. This offer would be coupled with a threat to destroy the great hydro-electric dam at Suifu, on the Korean-Manchurian border, if intervention continues. The Suifu dam supplies much of the electric power for Manchurian industry.

More Japanese War Criminals Paroled
TOKYO—(P)—General MacArthur's headquarters said today nine more Japanese war criminals will be paroled from Sugamo prison Nov. 15.

This will bring to 127 the total of convicted war criminals released under a parole plan of the legal section in the general's headquarters.

Those to be released include a civilian army employee, a Korean, three navy men, three former sergeant majors and two privates, all sentenced to eight to ten years.

Accidents Claim 18 Lives In Michigan For Snowy Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

The season's first snowy weekend brought accidental death to at least 18 persons in Michigan. Sixteen were killed in traffic accidents and two women burned to death.

One of the fire victims set fire to her bed while smoking a pipe, police said. She was Mrs. Lena Williams, 67, of Detroit.

Mrs. Maude Scheurer was burned fatally in her Ionia home when gasoline she was using to start a stove fire exploded and showered her with flames. She died Sunday at Blodgett Memorial hospital in Grand Rapids.

One of those killed in traffic was 79-year-old Burt C. Jones of Detroit, who was dragged for a block when his foot caught in the door of a city-owned bus as he started to get off.

A Jones' body was found in a gutter Saturday night. Fragments of his torn clothing were found on the bus. The student driver who was operating the vehicle and his vehicle and his instructor both told police they knew nothing of the accident. Both were released.

Three other pedestrians were among the traffic dead. Martin Smith, 60, of Detroit, was killed during a wet snowstorm Saturday night. The driver told police Smith loomed suddenly out of the rain and he was unable to stop.

Sunday accidents in the Detroit area claimed the lives of Walter Evers, 54, of Detroit, and Clyde B. Ward, 43, of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The driver of the car that hit Evers in Detroit was exonerated. Macomb county authorities held 18-year-old Lawrence Carter whose auto struck Ward.

Anthony Dubrowski, 42, of Detroit, was killed Sunday when he drove his car into the wrong lane of traffic at Gratiot avenue and 23 miles road in Macomb county. Dubrowski's wife said he became confused by a divided highway.

Football Fans Plane Missing

Four Lost On Way To Notre Dame Game

CLEVELAND—(P)—Army and coast guard airplanes today resumed a search for a private plane missing since Saturday when two young couples took off from Sharon, Pa., for the Notre Dame-Navy football game here.

Stanley W. Dunbar, 29, the pilot, radioed the Cleveland control tower at 2:15 p. m. that he had lost 6,500 feet in a storm and had fuel for another hour and 45 minutes. At 2:43 p. m. the Youngstown control tower heard him say, "Just a minute, I'm busy now." After that nothing was heard.

In the Beechcraft Bonanza plane besides Dunbar were his wife, Barbara, 28; C. Richard Johnston, 26, of Youngstown, and Johnston's wife, Annabelle, 26.

The Dunbars have three children. Yesterday army and navy aircraft and a coast guard boat searched Lake Erie, concentrating off Bay Village, 17 miles east of Cleveland. Mrs. Bertha Laverty, 75, said she had seen a plane spin toward the water and disappear behind trees lining the shore.

Controversial Zoning Problems Aired Expect Heavy Saturday; Detailed Studies Ordered Vote Tuesday

Detailed zoning studies of areas on Ludington street from 23rd street to the west city limits, and on 23rd street from South Second avenue to North 12th avenue, were ordered by the Escanaba Planning commission on Saturday.

Determined opposition to zoning changes in these areas has arisen since the planning commission last August recommended to the city council that the commercial area west of 23rd street on Ludington be zoned residential.

Also involved was a project of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce industrial committee to locate a sausage factory in North Escanaba.

Because of opposition, the city council, at its last meeting, referred the zoning problems to the planning commission for reconsideration.

Krieger Here

Zoning in these two areas, set aside in the city master plan for future residential development, was the chief item before the commission at its postponed regular meeting Saturday afternoon. Alex St. Cyr presided in the absence of John Bartlett, chairman.

Present at the commission meeting were Elmer Krieger of Milwaukee, planning consultant for the city; Tom Goedert and Oscar Carlson of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council; Clarence Mores of the Delta County tourist council; Hugh Grow, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce; Larry Fleming and Fred Schmitt, property owners in the areas involved; four members of the city council and their manager and assessors.

Krieger recommended that more hearings on zoning questions in the two areas be held so that owners of both residential and commercial or industrial property have an opportunity to be heard. He emphasized that the planning commission exists to help both individuals and the community, in properly building and developing the city. The planning consultant stated that the first step in a zoning change should be conferring with property owners in the area involved.

Recommendation Withdrawn

Krieger, who studied the areas involved Saturday morning, declared that both commercial and residential property owners in the areas were there "in good faith." He pointed out that the Ludington street portion contains good residential developments, the character of which could be changed by some types of commercial developments.

On the other hand, he noted, commercial buildings on the street could be developed into units satisfactory for a city's entrance.

The commission Saturday ruled that a previous recommendation that the council change to residential the commercial area on Ludington street, from 23rd street west, had been rescinded at a previous meeting.

Want Industrial Area

A petition endorsed by 80 property owners in the Ludington street area, asking that the section be left commercial was accepted and placed on file. Also accepted was a petition signed by 30 residents on the East side of US-2-41, between North 9th and 12th avenues, and west of Washington avenue, requesting that that area be zoned residential.

Petitions asking that the areas be left for commercial and industrial use were supported by the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council, the Delta County Tourist Council and the industrial division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Hugh Grow, representing the Chamber of Commerce, asked that the commission leave the area north of Ludington along 23rd street open for industrial development. Grow reviewed the formation of the Escanaba Industrial foundation, with capital of $40,000 several years ago, and pointed out that the foundation desires that area for future industrial locations.

Sausage Factory

The Industrial Foundation has been negotiating with the Vollwerth company of Hancock, which seeks to build a large sausage factory across from the fairgrounds.

The Hancock concern wanted city-owned property in that area, but the planning commission ruled that the city should not sell this to Vollwerth, because private property suitable for the sausage factory also was available in the area.

A. V. Aronson, city manager, and Charles Gessner, a member of the commission, pointed out Saturday that the commission and the manager had cooperated with the Vollwerth company in helping to make private property available to the concern at a price lower than was originally asked by the owners. No more was heard from the concern after this property was made available, they pointed out.

The matter was not referred to the city council because the commission did not make further contacts with city officials. It was reported Saturday. At the city council meeting last Thursday, members of the Trades and Labor Council asked councilmen why the Vollwerth concern, which they were told wanted to erect a $250,000 plant and bring a $80,000 payroll here, was not given favorable consideration. Councilmen stated they had not known about the proposal.

Vollwerth Will Wait

Grow informed the commission Saturday that the Vollwerth company had assured him it would wait until next spring to see if property could be available for location in Escanaba. He told the commission the Vollwerth concern did not want the privately-owned site because "they had their minds set on the city-owned land opposite the fairgrounds" and because the proffered private property was near the Birdseye Veneer plant and the Green Mill.

"Though not noticeable to residents, there is a wood odor from these plants and the Vollwerth concern believes that passersby would think the odor is coming from the sausage factory," Grow explained.

Grow asked the planning commission and the city to take some action which would assure Vollwerth's "they are not being given the run around by the city of Escanaba" and to dispel confusion which has arisen.

Public Acceptance

Charles Gessner, member of the commission, declared that the planning commission is as interested as any other group in bringing new industry to Escanaba and that no group has "fought more unselfishly and got more hell."

Gessner cited advantages gained by holding the property on the Danforth road for a large industry, now a Harnischfeger development, and declared industrial areas should not be "chewed up" into small piece-meal developments. He said that he didn't think the commission was involved in locating an industry here, and that the commission's interest should be with taxpayers and homeowners in Escanaba.

Elmer Krieger urged members of the commission to use present problems as an opportunity to bring the planning commission before the people and obtain more favorable public acceptance. He said the commission should help dispel the popular feeling that a planning commission is an "arbitrary watchdog."

The Escanaba planning staff will make a survey of properties in the two areas and detailed land use maps for the commission's study of the zoning problems. Recommendations on future zoning changes in the areas will be made only after public hearings, the commission resolved. Zoning in the two areas now remains as set forth in the zoning ordinance.

Deaths With Restrictions

Following discussion of the zoning problems, Robert Clayton, city planner, presented to the commission a map showing residential development in Escanaba in the past 10 years.

He pointed out that not much residential area is available for development in North Escanaba, where many want to live because of nearness to their work. Residential areas in North Escanaba are encroached by industrial expansion and not much is left except in areas beyond the ore docks. Clayton pointed out.

The city planner also noted that St. Thomas the Apostle parish's new buildings will be located in the North Escanaba area, and that it is desirable to keep the church property in the heart of a residential development.

During the discussions, Krieger informed the planning commission that many cities now are extending industrial expansion by granting deeds with restrictions, such as landscaping, off-street parking and set-backs, in areas not zoned for industrial use. "In some cases this can work out very satisfactorily," he observed.

Industrial Expansion

Krieger also reviewed the history of city planning since it was first instituted in 1916. Not until 1928 did courts begin upholding changes in zoning, but since, acceptance of city planning has increased each year, he said.

The Milwaukee planner emphasized that the Escanaba master plan is geared to industrial expansion and though it is projected into the next 50 years, it also considers immediate problems. He noted that the master plan is the "general objective" and that amendments can be made if the community feels the change is desirable.

Architectural specifications and financing for the new Escanaba water filter plant, submitted by Concor, Townsend & Associates in cooperation with the architectural firm of Perkins and Will, were studied at the close of the meeting.

Commission members, who are not paid for serving on the planning unit adjourned at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, after a four-hour session.

Mrs. Ida Stone, 82, Dies Here Today; Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Ida Charlotte Stone, 82, oldest member of the Mission Covenant church, died at 9 a. m. today at her home, 216 North 12th street.

Mrs. Stone, widow of August Stone of this city, was born March 3, 1868 in Smoland, Sweden. She moved to Escanaba from Sweden 61 years ago.

She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Ellen Carlson of South Milwaukee; two sons, Edwin of Trenton, Mich. and Carl Stone of Escanaba; a sister, Mrs. Hannah Eastman, and a brother, Hjalmer Carlson, both of Escanaba. Also surviving are 12 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren.

The body was removed to Anderson Funeral home and will lie in state there beginning Tuesday afternoon. Services will be conducted from Anderson Funeral home chapel at 2 p. m. Wednesday by the Rev. John Anderson, pastor of the Mission Covenant church. Burial will be made in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

County Raises Pay

DETROIT—(P)—Ten cent hourly pay increases have been granted to 5,800 Wayne county employees by the county board of supervisors. The raise amounts to $208 a year per worker and will cost the county an estimated $1,250,000 annually.

Fall Fatal To Miss Pellow

Niece Of J. P. Nortons Dies In Chicago

Miss Katherine Anne Pellow, R. N. 27, of Chicago, died Saturday night at 5:30 in Wesley Memorial hospital, of head injuries received in a fall while on duty Thursday night. Death was due to a ruptured blood vessel in the brain.

Miss Pellow was born July 2, 1923 in Neenah and took her nurses training in Oak Park hospital. She was a veteran of World War II, having served at the Naval hospital in San Diego, Calif.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. K. C. Pellow, Neenah; four brothers, Tom, Robert and John Pellow of Neenah; one sister, Mary Pellow, who lives in Douglassville, Pa. She was a niece of the late Mrs. John P. Norton and Mrs. Robert P. Norton of this city and of Mrs. Frank W. Harrison of Detroit.

Funeral services will be held in Neenah and burial will be made there.

Gannon Appeals Liquor Case

The appeal of John J. Gannon, 402 Stephenson avenue, Escanaba, charged with purchasing alcoholic liquor on credit, will be heard by the Michigan Liquor Control commission in Lansing on Tuesday Nov. 14.

At a previous hearing, Gannon was ordered to pay a fine of $50 or have his license suspended for 10 days. He holds B-hotel and SDM licenses.

Election Interest Running High

Well above 10,000 Delta county voters, inspired by spirited campaigns and "get out the vote" publicity, are expected to go to the polls tomorrow in Tuesday's general election.

In 1946, last "off-year" election between presidential election years, a total of 10,146 votes were cast in Delta county for the office of Michigan governor.

The polls in all precincts in the city and county will be open tomorrow from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Voters will have before them the following candidates for office on the two major party tickets:

Republican Ticket

Governor—Harry F. Kelly, Lt. Governor—William C. Vandenberg, Secretary of State—Fred M. Alger, jr., Attorney General—Frank G. Millard, State Treasurer—D. Hale Brake, Auditor General—John B. C&NW Veterans Reelect Leppla

231 Attend Annual Banquet Meeting

Walter V. Leppla, Escanaba train dispatcher, was reelected president of the Peninsula division of the Chicago and North Western Railway Veterans' association at the annual banquet meeting held at Terrace Gardens on Sunday. G. W. Walter was named vice president, and Iver J. Barber, secretary.

George E. Harvey, who acted as toastmaster, said that the association was organized on the Iowa division 25 years ago and now has 5,500 members. Recently, the service requirement for membership was reduced from 25 to 20 years. Two new members, Mose Martin and Mrs. Josephine Greis, were inducted and awarded membership pins at Sunday's meeting.

Upton Gives Talk

W. C. Upton of Lake Villa, Ill., system secretary of the veterans' group, who was recently elected fourth vice president of the United Railroad Veterans' association at its national meeting, told of the growth of C&NW membership. While the association is entirely an employees' group, Upton urged the members to do the best job possible for the railroad.

"The railroad can be no better than the men working for it," Upton said. "Keep this in mind and we will have a better railroad."

He pointed out that the railroads at one time were virtually the only means of public transportation, but added that "now every pound of freight and every passenger carried is competitive." He advised veterans and employees to do their part in soliciting business for the railroad.

W. H. Roberts of Chicago, president of the system veterans' group, entertained the guests with a collection of humorous stories, and lauded the Peninsula division for its achievements. He also urged every citizen to vote on Tuesday.

Coleman Nee Honored
Tribute was paid at Sunday's meeting to Coleman Nee and other veteran employees of the Chicago and North Western railway.

Mr. Nee began work at the age of 16 with a crew laying track between Florence, Wis., and Crystal Falls in 1881. He became a locomotive fireman in 1887, an engineer in 1892, and retired in 1900 to engage in business in Escanaba. Also present at Sunday's meeting was August P. Johnson, 80, station agent at Neegaunee, who has been in the C&NW service 66 years. The two enjoyed exchanging reminiscences of early railroading experiences on the Peninsula division.

Two hundred and thirty-one men and women were in attendance. After making reservations to attend the dinner, Harvey Heminger, Escanaba, retired conductor, was struck by an automobile last Wednesday night. He was not seriously injured but was unable to attend. His banquet

Salvation Army Reports Asked

To End Drive For Funds This Week

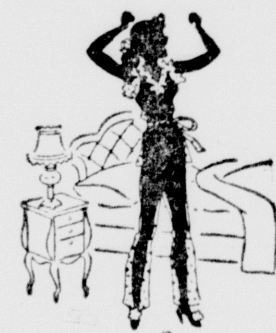

Solicitors in the Salvation Army fund raising campaign are asked to complete their canvassing work as early as possible this week, W. L. Marble of Gladstone, chairman of the advisory board, announced today.

Reports on the campaign are somewhat slow in coming in, although preliminary figures reveal a generous response to the appeal for funds to finance the Salvation Army's work among the needy families in Delta county.

The Salvation Army advisory board is anxious to have all canvassers complete their work this week in order to clear the way for the fund raising drives of the organizations, formerly allied with the Community Chest.

Editorials—

Tomorrow Is Election Day; Be Sure You Go To Polls And Vote

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND AMERICANS were killed in World War II, killed in defense of liberty and democratic principles. If we hold democracy worth fighting for and dying for, then surely democracy is worth voting for.

Tomorrow is election day. It is the most important election in the nation during the next two years. Tomorrow's election will determine the character of Congress during the next two fateful years. It will also determine what kind of state administration the people of Michigan will have in 1951-52. The electors will choose their county officers in this election and they will pass upon four proposals for amending the state constitution. Here in Escanaba the voters will also decide a local issue, whether to bond the city for $125,000 to convert the gas plant to propane gas.

All of these contests and these issues are of vital importance to every person. If you fail to vote, you yield your voice in government. Democracy cannot function properly if only a segment of the people go to the polls on election day.

Democracy is based upon the principle of majority rule. But if only a minority votes on election day, we have minority rule. That is wholly contrary to the principle of democracy.

Tomorrow is your chance to indicate your choice for the men and women you

No Phone Strike For Election

THE CIO telephone workers union of Michigan acted unwisely in setting a date for their phone strike the day previous to the general election, but the union finally has bowed to wiser counsel in deciding to move the strike deadline back three days.

A communications strike is bad at any time because it jeopardizes life, health and public safety but it would be particularly bad if telephone service were cut out on election day. The public reaction to such a strike would be extremely antagonistic to the union. The disregard for public welfare in throwing a monkeywrench into the tabulation of election returns would heap considerable criticism upon the union that would be responsible for such a development.

It would be impossible to collect and tabulate election returns Tuesday night without the benefit of telephone service. The county returns could be compiled but the statewide tabulations could not be made, so it would be at least Wednesday, if not later, before the results of the governorship election could be determined.

The telephone union has shown evidences of immaturity and a disregard for the public on several occasions in the past, but the threat to tie up telephone service the day before election was the height of "public be damned" attitude.

UN Ratified Plan To Block Veto

THE U. N. general assembly has taken the sting out of the security council veto power of Soviet Russia.

The world security plan proposed by the American government has been ratified by the U. N. general assembly. Under this program, the United Nations will establish a police patrol to check on the world's trouble spots and military units of member nations will be made available for United Nations action to suppress aggression.

The most important phase of the plan, however, is the provision for emergency sessions of the general assembly when UN action is stifled by the veto authority in the security council.

Russia's flagrant abuse of the veto authority threatened to stifle the United Nations as an organization for world peace. But the general assembly, unlike the security council, is not stymied by the veto rule. The effect of the American plan is to utilize the general assembly when UN action is necessary for world peace but when the security council is stymied by the Russian veto power.

Russia does not like this plan any more than it liked the reelection of Trygve Lie as secretary general, but the Russian objection is based upon the Soviet determination to nullify the United Nations in its program to prevent aggression. Drastic action of this nature is essential to preserve and strengthen the world organization. It may mean the eventual withdrawal of Russia as a member of the United Nations but if it dies, the cause of world peace will not suffer thereby.

BLUE-EYED BEES

University of California geneticists, according to a news item, have succeeded in breeding blue-eyed honey bees. The blue-eyed strain is the outcome of carefully-controlled cross-breeding between unusual white-eyed bees that appeared as genetic freaks and black-eyed queens. To date the countryman with his half dozen hives of regular three-banded Italian honey bees, has seen no reliable data to the effect that blue-eyed bees are superior to the regular strains in harvesting honey.

It may be, of course, that the learned geneticists have something else to disclose as soon as they are certain of their facts. Scientists are inclined to be conservative when on the trail of progress. A regular bee, however, is a reasonably efficient insect. It has survived for thousands of years in the face of great odds. Bees work upon some 2000 species of nectar-producing plants in the United States; workers from one strong hive may visit 250,000 blossoms between morning hours after the dew is gone and evening dusk. It requires some 400 pounds of honey to support the bees of a vigorous colony. One expert claims the workers of a large colony fly approximately 17,000,000 miles in one season harvesting nectar and pollen.

Possibly a strain of blue-eyed bees could see farther and better than the present strains. The spectrum has many secrets yet to be revealed as we learn more about the three primary colors and their infinite shadings. In comparison with the bumblebees' large size, the smaller honey bee is much more efficient. The former makes more noise but the honey bee works longer hours and at a faster pace. Only the queen bumblebees live over winter in hibernation, so the bumbles do not concern themselves with a savings bank account of honey. If it should develop that blue-eyed honey bees can work more efficiently and thus more quickly store their own needs plus extra sweetness for man's use, we shall be in favor of this genetic advance. When more people can have all the honey they wish for toast, biscuits and corn muffins, we believe our society will be another plateau higher on the trail.—By Hayden Pearson.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. As a child I was always given horehound candy when I had a cough. How did it get its curious canine name?—Mrs. A. B.

A. The "hound" in horehound is a spelling corruption. Horehound is a mint plant, the Barubium vulgare. The original Anglo-Saxon word was harhune, "gray (hoar) plant." This because the Middle English horehouse, which somehow picked up an exchecant "d" and because horehound.

Q. Will you please explain the expression to raise or play "hob"?—R. R.

A. This particular hob is a now obsolete word meaning "an elf, sprite, or fairy." To play or raise hob, then, is to create the havoc characteristic of a malicious evil spirit. The word hob is also seen in the word hobgoblin.

Q. During the war we heard a lot about "weasel words." What is the origin of the expression, and was it a coinage of the late F. D. R.?—U. D. P.

A. Weasel words is an expression that describes the hair-splitting and equivocation which suck the life and meaning out of a statement, just as a weasel sucks the contents from an egg while leaving the shell apparently intact.

It was Theodore Roosevelt who popularized the term. In a speech at St. Louis, May 31, 1916, he declared: "One of our defects as a nation is a tendency to use what have been called weasel words. When a weasel sucks eggs, the meat is sucked out of the egg. If you use a weasel word after another, there is nothing left of the other."

Q. Why is "blackmail" so called?—O. W.

A. This particular "mail" has nothing to do with postal service. Mail is a Scottish term for rent or tribute. It was once the custom in parts of England and Scotland for predatory chieftains to collect tribute from estates and villages in return for protection from pillage. The main (rent or tribute) was in the form of cattle, corn, or other food products. This was called "black mail" as distinguished from "white mail"—rent paid in silver.

In 1601, during the reign of Elizabeth, payment or receipt of blackmail was declared by law to be a felony.

Welcome Quiet By Gordon Martin

In the hectic race for office, many politicians vie, some without a lot of principles and some with standards high. And though each pursues a special way to gather in the votes, when the fuss and fight is over, there is hoarseness in their throats. For it's true no matter where the boys in politics may walk, there's a trait they have in common for they all adore to talk.

Now the man who seeks an office is a sorry candidate, if he isn't always willing to begin a hot debate. Even these without a strident voice for fear the speaking stands, like a lot of conversation when they shake the voters' hands. And where once they kissed the brows of babes, which now is out of style, they make up for it with still more words the voters to beguile.

In the press and on the radio, they man their verbal guns, and until the day of judgment, words are spoken by the tons. Even some must put to music what they'd like for us to know, but they keep right on a-talkin' to the tune of hi-de-ho. Though you wonder at their vocal strength which always seems to last, you'll be thankful for the quiet when election day is past.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—When this hot and hectic election campaign is over, the weirdest story undoubtedly will be that of how Gov. Thomas E. Dewey bulldozed Lieut. Gov. Joe Hanley out of the New York gubernatorial race and his efforts to destroy the Hanley letter which followed.

Here are inside facts regarding this amazing story not hitherto published.

The story began, of course, in late August when the polls showed Truman's political popularity at its lowest ebb and when Korean defeats were at their worst. At this time Winthrop Aldrich, head of the Chase National Bank, conferred in Bar Harbor, Me., with his brother-in-law, John D. Rockefeller, and as a result, Aldrich staged a luncheon of GOP bigwigs in his office, Aug. 28, at which he laid down an ultimatum that Hanley must withdraw from the race and Dewey must be the gubernatorial candidate.

Otherwise, Aldrich bluntly warned, no campaign funds would be forthcoming. Since Aldrich has been the biggest single money-raiser for Dewey, this warning meant something.

What Dewey's banking friends figured was that, with Truman popularity down and the Korean war going badly, the long-awaited opportunity to put their man in the White House was just around the corner. But there was one big complication. Since Dewey wanted to be drafted, he had to get Hanley—upon whom he had placed his blessing—to withdraw gracefully from the race.

HANLEY'S MENTAL MAULING

To that end, Hanley was summoned to Dewey's apartment in the Roosevelt hotel in New York, Sept. 1, where Dewey, Congressman William Pfeiffer of Kenmore and Dean Taylor of Troy put the heat on him. The 74-year-old Hanley, however, had long looked forward to the honor of being governor, and did not withdraw gracefully. In fact, it was not until 2 a. m. that he finally gave in; then only after Dewey promised a $15,000 salary with the throughway commission and a $15,000 vice-presidency with one of the Rockefeller oil companies.

By this time Hanley was so exhausted he had lost the sight of his one good eye, and, when flown back to Albany in the morning, his eyes were bandaged and the tears streamed out from under the bandages. His daughter, Mrs. Josephine Wilcox, welcoming her father, broke down.

"Why didn't they shoot him instead of doing this," she sobbed.

GOP MEETS AT SARATOGA

Next week the Republican state convention met in Saratoga to nominate, and on Tuesday, Sept. 5, Jim Leary, close friend and personal attorney for Hanley, tried to find Congressman Kingsland Macy, Macy, meeting with the Suffolk county delegation, could not be reached until later in the evening at the convention hall.

There Leary pulled him aside and under candlelight—the electricity having gone off—showed him a carbon copy of the now famous Hanley letter, telling of the Dewey pledge to take care of Hanley's debts and future financial welfare if he withdrew from the race.

"Good God, what's this?" exclaimed Macy.

"You're going to get your copy in the morning," Leary explained.

Apparently Leary had encouraged Hanley to write the letter, and had kept a copy. Next day Macy received the original of the letter by messenger and was so fearful its contents might leak that he sent his

Mystery Safe In U. S. Capitol Will Not Be Opened Until 1976

By MARY JANE MOORE

Here's the real story about the famous mystery safe in the United States Capitol at Washington, a huge old strongbox that has been tightly locked and never opened since 1876—won't be until the year 1976.

Millions of visitors have passed it by in intervening decades. Almost none has known its odd story and, indeed, few members of Congress, although there has been plenty of curiosity and all sorts of weird and colorful yarns have been spun about it.

The entire bizarre and now obscure affair is based upon plans formed with the knowledge of persons once high in the United States Government, including two Presidents. The safe is located almost directly beneath the dome of the Capitol.

It has been at the Capitol since 1879, when its inner doors were last closed and locked. Articles of great value it is natural to suppose, must rest within any iron box remaining in the custody of the Government for so long a time and in so prominent a place. Paradoxically, it probably contains only the manuscript of a sermon, a card authorizing agents of express companies to transport leaves of an autograph album without charge, two pens, an inkstand, and signatures and photographs of the famous men and women of the time.

A Strange Dream

Those are some of the tangible things behind the safe's two iron doors which have not swung for more than 70 years. The dark interior holds something else, however—something that will not be seen even when daylight is let into the old box, for cooped within is the strange dream of an energetic woman.

When the nation became one hundred years old in 1876 Mrs. C. F. Deihm of New York City was greatly impressed. She gave deep thought to the progress that had been made since men attached their names to the Declaration of Independence and she determined to do something that would mark the birth of the United States into a new century.

She took her plan to Peter Cooper, famed philanthropist, who gave her money with which to purchase a safe made with "patented" alum and dry plaster filling, which is free from dampness and rust, and is always fireproof.

Out of her determination came installation of her "centennial safe" in Memorial Hall at the Philadelphia Exposition in 1876. Commenting upon this exhibit, The Philadelphia Ledger in that year had this to say:

"The safe is designed to contain memorial articles, and will be locked up on the thirty-first of December next, not to be opened before a century hence."

Inner Doors of Glass

"The safe has inner doors of plate glass; the outer doors have respectively portraits of Presidents Lincoln and Grant painted thereon, while one of Washington, supported by the Union flag and the nine free shillings, forms the central picture on the cornice. Among the contents of the safe are hand-somely bound albums, to contain the photographs and autographs of the leading 'centennial' officers, and also those of the governors of the states and other prominent men."

"There also are autograph books called the United States Centennial albums, a silver inkstand lined with gold, and two gold pens, one of which has been presented by Henry W. Longfellow. One album is larger than the others, and whoever records his name therein is entitled to the space below his name, so that when these books are opened in 1976, the direct lineal descendant of the signer may record his own name below that of his ancestor. There is also in the safe an album to receive the autographs of foreign ministers and visitors."

Mrs. Deihm started a magazine called "The United States Centennial Welcome" in which she called upon high officials to make their autographs available. She dispatched leaves of the "centennial album" throughout the country and gained concessions from express companies to transport them free of charge. She even obtained credentials from the Chief Justice of the United States and others high in authority extolling her activity and urging cooperation.

The Philadelphia exposition ended and the safe was taken back to New York and was placed on exhibition there.

The year 1876 ended with a

More Feed Grains Likely Next Year

CHICAGO — Grains and concentrates available for feed in the 1950-1951 feeding year, October 1-September 30, will amount to about 138 million tons, an increase of 8 percent over the 127 million tons actually fed during 1949-1950.

This is the estimate of the Feed Survey Committee organized by the American Feed Manufacturers Association. The group consists of 23 authorities from the nation's agricultural colleges.

A year ago the committee predicted an 11 percent increase in total feed supplies, compared with an actual increase in use of 11.2 percent.

The survey group based its prediction on a more nearly normal end-of-the-year corn carryover of 250 million bushels in the fall of 1951. The current feed year started with an unusually large carryover of more than 350 million bushels of corn—equal to nearly a quarter of the 1950 crop.

Canadian Wheat

The total of 138 million tons of grains and concentrates available for feed this year allows for non-feed uses and for exports similar to those of a year ago. However, it does not take into account the possibility of about 1,500,000 tons (50 million bushels) of frost-damaged wheat from Canada which will seek a market outlet as feed in the U. S.

The committee said it believes livestock feeding, in total, during the 1950-1951 year, will continue at about the same rate as during the past year.

U. S. farmers will raise about 29,125,000 pigs in the 1950 fall crop, an increase of 5 percent over a year ago, the survey group estimated. But in the spring of 1951 "it is anticipated that 60-500,000 pigs will be raised." That would be less than 1 percent increase over the 1950 spring crop.

Poultry production in 1951 will show a moderate reduction, the report indicated. Layers on farms January 1, 1951, are expected to be 450 million or 2.8 percent less than last January 1. Young chickens raised for flock replacements are expected to show a decline of 3 percent from the 670 million raised this year.

However, the committee said that in contrast, broiler production is expected to increase 6.3 percent to 585 million birds. Turkey production is headed for a 5 percent decline from the record crop of 44,550,000 in 1950.

I have three sons, and when each was 10, Dick looked like the worst ballplayer of the lot. I hoped one of my sons would follow in my footsteps but I never thought it would be Dick—George Sisler, baseball star of yesterday.

This ugly, old fashioned safe stands in the U. S. Capitol and hasn't been opened since about 1876. Won't be cracked until 1976. How it got in the Capitol and what it contains is a story unusual even for the Capitol building. Pictured also is the late Mrs. C. F. Deihm, whose curious "centennial safe" project created a furore in its day and a mystery for the millions who have seen the tightly-locked strong box through the years to the present.

Mystery Safe In U. S. Capitol Will Not Be Opened Until 1976

number of signatures short. So the scheduled closing "for one hundred years" of the iron doors was postponed. Mrs. Deihm printed her last issue of the "Centennial Welcome" and included in its columns an appeal for more signatures. She traveled about, giving notices to the local papers that she was on hand with her album.

More than two years passed before Mrs. Deihm felt that the time for the final round-up of signatures in the safe had arrived. Then she climaxed her planning by arranging to place the safe in the rotunda of the Capitol, where its doors were to be closed amid ceremony and where the big iron box would remain for ninety-seven years.

Success rewarded her efforts, save only in the detail that installation of the safe in the rotunda was not permitted. The authorities compromised by allowing it to be set in a corner of Statuary Hall, which formerly had been the chamber of the House of Representatives, and the anniversary of Washington's birthday in 1879 was chosen for the ceremonies.

Inquiry Demanded

In almost the same moment that its doors were being closed, Senator Morrill was rising in the Senate chamber at the other end of the Capitol to present a resolution which was to lead to removal of the strong-box from its position in Statuary Hall. The resolution demanded an inquiry to learn what authority the National Statuary Hall, set apart by law exclusively for statues, has been permitted to be used for any other "exhibitions." Apparently the committee could locate no such authority. Within two weeks a law was passed providing that "no work of art or manufacture other than the property of the United States shall be exhibited in the National Statuary Hall, the rotunda, or the corridors of the Capitol; and that holds to this day."

What to do with the big box? Of elephantine proportions, it seemed impossible to hide it. But the solons had said it must not be exhibited.

In the interim, an employee of the Capitol had an idea. Only the inner doors of the safe, those made of plate glass, had been locked; the heavy outer doors were capable of movement to permit peeks to be taken at the variegated contents. So he occasionally made some side money by swining the big doors when tourists came along.

That was too good to last, however. With sorrowful eye, he saw strong men come after the box and lock its outer doors, once a determined authority had found a place for it.

Upon removal from Statuary Hall, the safe was placed where it now stands, in a secluded spot under the great steps in the center of the east front of the Capitol. To those who go out of their way to look at it the old safe presents its rusty front, pictures and inscriptions which once were painted on its surface have vanished. One of the two handles is broken and effort is required to turn the dials controlling tumblers that have not moved for decades. But it makes no difference for nobody nowadays has the combination.

The key used in locking the inner doors on that far-away noon in '79 has vanished. Mrs. Deihm once had expressed the desire that it be placed with the Smithsonian Institution, there to be kept until the day of the grand opening. Dependable records show no hint that such action ever was taken, and a careful search among articles deposited with the Institution fails to reveal the key.

And that is why a safe-cracking is scheduled to take place at the Capitol in 1976.

REVOLUTION—Two Puerto Rican revolutionaries tried to kill President Truman and failed. One of them was shot down by guards, dying in blood-spattered shrubbery. The second was wounded. One guard was killed, two were wounded.

Oscar Collazo, the surviving revolutionary, was reported to consider himself a martyr to the cause of Puerto Rican independence. Both he and his slain companion were from New York City but they came to this country from Puerto Rico and had known conditions there.

Collazo said they hoped to slay the president, start a revolution in the United States, and thus gain independence for the island in the Caribbean.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS—As early as 1950 the people of Puerto Rico had sought independence—at first from Spain and later from the United States.

The little island whose history dates back to its settlement by the Spanish in 1508 (15 years after Columbus discovered America) today has a population of nearly 2 million—a density of nearly 600 persons per square mile.

The people are largely Spanish, with a few Negroes, Portugese, Italians, French, and some from the United States.

It is a country of revolt against oppression—revolt by the early Indians against Spanish conquistadores, and in 1850 against Spain itself.

THE UNITED STATES—In 1898 the revolutionary movement against Spain brought about a form of government that gave the Puerto Ricans considerable local rule.

And it was in 1898 that the Spanish American War broke out and the United States forces under Rough Rider Teddy Roosevelt "freed" Puerto Rico. Spain ceded the island—and a Pandora's box of trouble—to the United States.

PROGRESS — Under American control the island has been modernized to some extent and progress in the literal sense of the word has been made.

Roads and railroads were built, hospitals, hotels, and public buildings were constructed. Reservoirs and dams now provide electric power—but not enough for industrial expansion.

The health of the people has improved with better sanitation and control of epidemics.

AND THE PEOPLE—But the island and its people are a possession of the United States. They are represented in the U. S. Congress by one elected delegate—who has no vote.

Small farming is the principal industry. There is poverty on the people - crowded island that is only 100 miles long and 35 miles wide.

Puerto Rico contributed soldiers and sailors to the armed forces of the United States in World Wars I and II. The people were made citizens of the United States by an act of Congress in 1917—but they are not allowed to vote in national elections of the United States.

There are schools but not enough of them. Only about two of every five Puerto Rican children has the opportunity to complete elementary school education.

Shipping regulations of the United States prohibit ships of other nations from carrying freight between the island and mainland U. S. ports. Many Puerto Ricans charge that this monopoly coupled with high freight rates is a part of their economic problem.

The strong contrast between American wealth and Puerto Rican poverty is another cause of discontent. Some political groups on the island are friendly to the United States, others are not—and the Nationalists advocate revolution to end an unhappy union.

STEPS—In 1946 President Truman appointed the first native Puerto Rican governor the island ever had; in 1948 Puerto Rico was permitted to elect its own governor.

And in 1950 the life of the president was attempted. He said: The people (Puerto Ricans) are happy and satisfied; they should have the right to determine their relation to the United States.

Good Evening . . .

10 YEARS AGO

Manistique—Dewayne Gilroy, a tackle, and Wilbur Chartier, a guard, were elected co-captains of the 1941 Manistique high school football team by lettermen following the Menominee game Saturday. Miller, a guard, captained the team this fall.

Escanaba—Running for county offices on the Republican ticket are Harry Buchanan for state Senate; Karl J. Hammar for the legislature; Rene Labre for sheriff; Robert E. LeMire for prosecuting attorney; Walter J. Sheedlo for county clerk and Clara K. Treiber for county treasurer.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—George E. Harvey, secretary of the Upper Peninsula state fair, will be among U. P. officials attending a meeting of the U. P. fair association at Newberry this week.

Rock—At a special meeting of the Maple Ridge township board of education this week, Fred Anderson was awarded the job of transporting children from West Rock to the local school.

Escanaba—Mrs. Charles Groomer and Mrs. Carl Johnson, 222 North 14th street, entertained a group of friends at their home last night.

Escanaba—Stone trim for the new Escanaba junior high school arrived yesterday and a call for all brick masons to help with the masonry yesterday was issued by the contractor.

Manistique—Camille Doyle and John Kelly will play the lead roles in "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," a three-act farce to be presented by the Woodmen band. Lawrence Gorsche is directing.

It's Small World Now, Americans Everywhere

BY MARQUIS CHILDS
 ABOARD TWA'S STAR OF MASSACHUSETTET FN ROUTE HOME—Ten years ago even the wildest prophet could hardly have foreseen how America is today tied into the web of world affairs. The globe-girdling American plane is a link with every corner of the earth, foreshortening time and space in a way that still seems part magic.

CHILDS

Americans are everywhere. They are traveling on public and private missions, most of them connected with one phase or another of the global effort to contain Communism.

Some Typical Americans

Here are snapshots of three such Americans. It would probably be inaccurate to call them typical; yet they are representative of the thousands upon thousands who have gone out on one kind of assignment or another.

The engineer. He was well past the retirement age when his firm in New York sent him to Greece to survey a hydroelectric project to be constructed largely with American funds supplied by ECA. It is part of a three to five year program planned to double the electric power available to the Greeks.

"I'm going to get young again," he says as he talks enthusiastically about the job ahead of him. "That's one reason I told them I was willing to come out. I wasn't ready to be put on the shelf."

Waiting for his wife to join him, he is learning what he hopes will be enough Greek to enable him to talk to ordinary people he meets when he's out in the country. And he is organizing the field trips that will provide the data for his survey.

"These people," he says earnestly, "are way behind in this power business. They've only got on the average about 400 kilowatt hours per person a year and that compares with a little over 2,300 kilowatt hours for the United States."

He's a little nervous about his wife, about whether she will like housekeeping in Athens. But she's a good sport, he says, and he thinks she'll take to the idea of getting young again, too.

Fiddling In Washington

The colonel. He's one of the old-time fly boys who achieved the rank of brigadier general briefly during World War II. Now, as a chicken colonel, he's second in command at an American air base in Europe. It's a pretty routine kind of job which the colonel carries out with an efficiency that is sure, but somewhat heavy-handed.

You don't have to talk with him long to discover a kind of smoldering resentment. It seems to be directed at "those folks over there in Washington" who are fiddle-fiddling around in a way that raises the colonel's blood pressure dangerously.

"What are we putting up with it for?" he demands, in the strong accent of Oklahoma or, maybe, Texas. "What are we letting those Chinese Communists get away with it for? It just don't make any sense to me."

You ask the colonel what he would do if he had his way.

"What'd I do? I'd thump 'em on the lanchon table with a heavy fist. 'Why I'd go in there, I'd clean 'em out, I'd do what has to be done. You don't think we got the power to do it? Well, we have."

"Of course," he says a little later in a tone of resigned melancholy. "I haven't got any call to be talking this way. You saw what they did to my friend Orville Anderson. But I don't give a blankety blank, and his voice rises again. "I'm going to say that we ought to hit 'em right at the heart, right where the power is."

No Dates For GI's

The GI. In the Mats air terminal at Dhahran in Saudi Arabia, air-conditioned against the sticky, penetrating heat outside, he is lounging on a ticket counter. He watches the ebb and flow of passengers from the big planes with a detached, philosophic interest.

"Oh, it's not bad," he says. "Of course, it's hotter than the hinges of Hell most of the time. And the sand blows a lot—it blows in your hair and your eyes. But what's really bad is that there isn't any women. There's a half-dozen Army nurses. But they don't date the GI's because the officers keep them dated up all the time."

"See, there's one now," he says, nodding in the direction of a woman in uniform passing briskly through the waiting room.

The big brass are coming in tomorrow and the GI has a crew of Arabs polishing doors and windows. One of the Arabs comes up and the GI says, "now listen, Joe, you know damned well you haven't got that glass in that door clean. Look at the smears on it." There is a bit of good-natured laughter between them and the Arab goes back to work.

"Of course," says the GI, "they only keep you out here a year. And it isn't so bad for me because I get to fly with special missions to Teheran and Bagdad and places like that and you can find some women there." No, it isn't so bad, he says over the raucous sound of the loudspeaker announcing a plane departure. His good-natured grin breaks out as he tells Joe to bear down on that window.

Rapid River

Halloween Party

RAPID RIVER—Mrs. Marion Park, teacher of the second and third grades of the Rapid River school, held a Halloween party for her pupils Tuesday afternoon in their school room. Decorations were in the Halloween motif. Games were played and refreshments were gingerbread, men, apples and Halloween candy. Miss Alice Kniskern held a similar party the same afternoon for her pupils at the Bungalow school in Stonington she served like refreshments.

Blue Birds' Party

Mrs. George Moore, assisted by Mrs. Walter Peters and Mrs. Ray Sundquist, entertained the Blue Birds of the Camp Fire Girls at a Halloween party Monday evening at the Moore home. The children went through the neighborhood on a "trick or treat" expedition and then returned to the Moore home for a Halloween lunch. In the group were Mary Grace Casimir, Judy and Linda Lagerquist, Patty Barney, Martha Cole, Katherine Wilbee, Patty Moore, Jackie Peters and Mary Miller.

Says Tourists 'Big Business'

O'Brien Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

The tourist business is big business in Delta county and every effort should be made to expand it, Walter O'Brien, tourist court operator, said in a talk at the meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday noon.

O'Brien said there are 57 operators of motels with accommodations for 1300 guests. With the addition of 100 in hotels and about 100 in homes, Delta county has a daily capacity of 2,000 guests.

"It is estimated that the average tourist spends $6.35 a day," O'Brien said. "This would mean that tourists spend in Delta county $12,700 a day when the accommodations are filled."

There is much interest in the fishing in the region, according to O'Brien, who said that out of 1,400 persons registering at the Outdoor Sportsmen's Show in Chicago 52 per cent expressed an interest in walleyes and 30 per cent in trout.

Seventy-five per cent of the vacationists choose a place where they will be able to fish, he added.

O'Brien said that Michigan is third in the United States in the volume of its tourist business, with a total of 500 million dollars. New York is first with one billion and California second with 600 million. The automobile industry is the largest in this state, but north of the Bay City-Muskegon line the tourist business is dominant, O'Brien added.

Ann Arbor Railway Promotes McGahey

MENOMINEE, Mich. — E. P. McGahey, Toledo, O., former general agent for the Ann Arbor Railroad at Green Bay, and well known to Twin City shippers, has been promoted to the position of freight traffic manager of the Ann Arbor, Michael J. Anuta, head of the M. & T Traffic Association, was advised today.

McGahey joined the Ann Arbor in 1920 at Green Bay and was dairy freight agent in this area and later general freight and passenger agent. He took over his new position on Nov. 1, a post held for many years by the late H. S. Bradley.

Anuta said that McGahey, working with Twin City shippers, had assisted in obtaining equitable freight rates for Menominee and Marinette.

French Losing North Indochina

Foothold Shrinking Before Red Thrust

SAIGON—(AP)—France's foothold in North Indochina continued to shrink today as the French announced abandonment of the defense system in the foothills region on three sides of Hanoi, the northern capital.

Pressed by Ho Chi Minh's Communist-led Vietnamese forces, the diminishing French beachhead around Hanoi gradually is being confined to the densely populated Red River Delta, in which live 8,000,000 of North Vietnam's 10,000,000 people.

French army headquarters said its forces had withdrawn from Hung Hoa, a main post 40 miles northwest of Hanoi, and from an entire series of smaller fortified positions extending 30 miles south of Hung Hoa.

The wholesale withdrawals, the French have announced, are being made to build up mobile reserves in the Delta area. These would be used to meet any thrust by Ho Chi Minh's forces.

Four Men and Woman Held In Five Detroit Week End Slayings

DETROIT—(AP)—Police held four men and a woman today for investigation in five separate slayings in Detroit over the weekend.

Albert Coleman, 33-year-old Negro, surrendered today in the shooting of his wife, Blanche, who police said was killed after an argument with her husband. Catherine Young, 22, was the woman held. She was killed, police said, in the fatal stabbing of her boy friend, Sylvester Byrd, 25.

James Nyx, 61, a bartender, told police Corey Alexander, 35, was shot to death as he grappled for a gun Nyx produced in an attempt to oust Alexander from Nyx's bar. Leroy Sanders, 38, was held in the slaying of Leroy Brown, 34, who died Sunday of stab wounds. Frank Caldwell, 39, was quoted by police as saying he fatally stabbed Geraldine De Haven, 37, to death in self defense in his apartment.

Anniversary Couple Plunged To Death In Saginaw River

BAY CITY—(AP)—A young Saginaw couple returning from their first wedding anniversary celebration plunged to death in the Saginaw river early today when their car crashed through bridge warning signals.

The victims were Casimir Sikorski, 22, and his wife, Dorothy, 21.

The Sikorskis apparently were traveling at a high rate of speed when they approached the Cass avenue bridge here. The bridge had been swung open to permit a boat to pass.

John Jones, the bridge tender, said he attempted to flag down the car but it skidded about 100 feet, crashed through a chain barrier and dropped about 15 feet into the river.

New Excise Tax Is Explained

10 Per Cent Levy On Quick Freezers

Beginning Nov. 1, the new Revenue Act of 1950 which levies a tax at the rate of 10 per cent on the manufacturer's sale of household-type quick freeze units for the quick freezing and frozen storage of foods is in effect.

It applies to all sales consummated on or after that date, according to John B. Fugere, division chief of the Department of Internal Revenue for the Upper Peninsula.

Fugere said the tax may be passed on the consumer, but the amount can only be the figure which was actually charged by the manufacturer.

Punishable By Fine
Any wholesaler or retailer who adds 10 per cent of the excise tax to his sale price would be collecting an amount which would be in excess of the actual tax paid to the government by the manufacturer and would be a misrepresentation and punishable with a fine of $1,000 and one year in prison, Fugere said.

Wholesalers and retailers should also remember that they are not permitted to pass on any tax to the retailer or consumer on those units which are in stock, and on which no manufacturer's excise tax has previously been paid by the manufacturer, by reason of the fact that they were sold by the manufacturer before Nov. 1, when the tax was not applicable.

The new act also levies a 10 per cent tax on the manufacturer's sale of television sets. In this case, the tax also may be passed on to the consumer, but subject to the provisions of the foregoing paragraphs.

The tax on the transportation of persons, which covers railroad, airline, motor vehicle, or water travel, has been broadened to include all amounts paid outside the United States, as well as in the United States for any travel within the United States.

This means that individuals or concerns who go across the border to purchase tickets for travel within the United States are now liable for the tax.

This provision of the new law also covers the tax on freight charges, so that any freight bills covering transportation of property within the United States are subject to the tax even though the freight bill is paid to the carrier's representative across the border.

Travel Ticket Tax
The Collector of Internal Revenue is particularly concerned with the apparent misinterpretation of Section 607 of the New Revenue Act of 1950 which sets forth the changes with respect to the scope of the tax imposed on travel tickets.

To the average persons the new Act may give the impression that the tax rate has been reduced from 15 per cent of the amount paid to 10 per cent, and many calls have been received in his office for information on this point.

The Detroit Office of the Collector has conferred with the Commissioner's Office in Washington, D. C., and substantiated the facts that the rate of tax has not been reduced and still remains at 15 per cent of the amount paid. The new law is written in technical language and may be misinterpreted very easily, and therefore this notice is published to clarify this point.

The tax on the retailer's sale

Edick, Ruwitch Slated To Attend Principals Meetings

Edward E. Edick, principal of Escanaba Senior High School, and George Ruwitch, assistant principal, are scheduled to attend high school principals meetings this week.

Edick will go to Ann Arbor for meetings Nov. 8 and 9 with freshmen of the University of Michigan. While in the lower peninsula he also will visit Escanaba students at Albion and Ypsilanti.

Ruwitch will attend a principals-freshmen conference at Northern Michigan college of education at Marquette Nov. 10. Making the trip with him will be Miss Bernadette Brennan, Miss Roma Irons and James Rouman, members of the EHS guidance staff.

In Marquette members of the Escanaba faculty also will attend a meeting of Upper Michigan members of the college agreement plan, of which the Escanaba school is a member. Under this plan, colleges will accept students in cases where they do not meet all requirements of the college, on approval of high school principals.

of jewelry and articles made of fur has also been broadened to include sales made by auctioneers or agents selling these commodities on behalf of non-retailers, also legal representatives of estates of non-retailers.

Under the prior law auctioneers, etc., who had no legal title to the articles they were selling were not required to pay the tax. However under the new law they are now liable.

Miss Archambeau And John Drefs Exchange Vows

ENGADINE—Miss Laura Archambeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alsen Archambeau and John Drefs, son of Mrs. Augusta Drefs, were married Saturday afternoon in St. George's rectory by Father Robert J. Cordy.

The bride wore a white moire gown with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar and ballerina length skirt and a shoulder veil of nylon tulle fastened to a lace cap. She carried red carnations and white baby mums. Miss Kathleen Archambeau who was her sister's maid of honor, wore an identical gown of aqua moire and carried pink carnations and bronze baby mums.

Raymond Archambeau was best man.

The bride's mother wore a blue and white check with brown accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore aqua with black accessories. Their flowers were pink carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for relatives and close friends. A three-tiered wedding cake with a tiny bridal couple ornament centered the table. The cake was served by Mrs. E. D. Varnes, and Miss Barbara Archambeau poured. Mixed fall flowers completed the decorations through the home.

The couple after a honeymoon in the Upper Peninsula will live at Davison, Mich. For traveling the bride wore a green tweed suit with brown accessories and a shoulder corsage of white baby mums. The bride is a graduate of Newberry high school and has been employed as a clerk at the Wilson clothing store. The bridegroom who is located in Flint attended the Engadine schools.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Varnes of Davison, Mrs. Bernard Browley and son Tommy, Marquette.

"X" on an air man's map shows where to bomb.
"X" in algebra stands for the unknown quantity.
"X" on a certain piece of paper marks a spot where Freedom rings, for that's the "X" we mark on an Election Day ballot.

Let this burn in: So long as every one of us has the right to vote, to vote exactly the way he wants to vote and to have that vote count, so long shall we have Freedom. If we ever lose that right we might just as well knuckle under to the first dictatorship that comes along. (45 million qualified voters didn't show up at the polls at the last Presidential election.)

Voting costs nothing. Not voting can cost your liberty.

There are men—and women—fighting now—for Freedom.

Can we do less than keep the Big Muscle of Freedom strong by exercising it at the polls Election Day?

Both Congressional And State Elections Vital

By ROGER W. BARSON
BABSOT PARK, Mass.—In the even-numbered years, such as this, the spotlight—even locally to some extent—is thrust upon candidates for the U. S. Senate and the House of Representatives. Yet, the ballyhoo of congressional campaigns should never divert our attention from our local state elections.

While the results of contests for places in our national congress will vitally affect all of us, we cannot afford to ignore our state elections if we expect to preserve the Federal System which our forefathers so carefully planned and for which they sacrificed so much. We should be intensely interested in seeking men of the highest ability, integrity and foresight as our representatives at the capital of each individual state. The legislation enacted in the states and administered by the governors surely determines the stability of our Federal System.

Children's Party Sponsored By Grand Marais Auxiliary

GRAND MARAIS—The Ladies' Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars, Grand Marais Post, 6030, sponsored a Halloween masquerade party at the cottage Tuesday evening, October 31 for all children of the community from preschool age through fourth grade.

The children came in an assortment of beautiful and comical costumes and the judges found it difficult to make a choice. Prizes for beautiful costumes went to Eileen Abrahamson for her portrayal of a bride in foamy white, and to the Herbert twins, Rosemary and Suzanne, dressed in identical Japanese pajamas and cloths, gifts of their brother from Japan. Prizes for the funniest costumes went to Ralph LaCombe for his attire as an old farmer and to Billy MacDonald for his disguise as an old man.

The game enjoyed most by the youngsters was "musical chairs" with Mrs. James Thorington at the piano. She played a repertoire of familiar melodies beloved by children. Apple cider and doughnuts were served in traditional Halloween style and each child was presented with a bag of candy and a noisemaker.

Mrs. Neil Beaver was chairman of the party and she was assisted by Mrs. Alex Niemi, Jr., Mrs. William LeFebvre, Mrs. Theodore Senecal, Mrs. George Sayen and Mrs. Ora Endress, Jr.

Five Hundred Club
Mrs. Edward Erickson entertained the West Town 500 club at her home Monday evening. Mrs. George Sayen had high score and Mrs. Joseph Drust received the guest award. Guests were Mrs. Herman Pettipren, Mrs. Andrew Soldenski, Mrs. George Sayen, Mrs. Joseph Drust, Mrs. Uno Mixon and Mrs. Alex Niemi, Jr.

Benefit Card Party
St. Ann's Guild benefit card party was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herman Pettipren. Mrs. Levi Meilleur had high score and Mrs. William Kerrigan received the guest prize. Those attending included Mrs. Charles Bleckner, Mrs. Sarah Senecal, Mrs. Levi Meilleur, Mrs. Henry Pettipren, Mrs. Frank Vaudreuil, Mrs. William Kerrigan and Mrs. Lawrence Tellier. The public is invited to attend a similar benefit at the Charles Bleckner home Nov. 7.

Halloween Party
Edith Rae Barney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barney, entertained a group of school mates at a Halloween party at her home Monday evening. Guests were Lorraine Mulligan, Harriet Grassier, Joan Aho, Sandra Hill, Dorothy Nyman, Regina Peterson, Sally and Joyce Masse, Jack Nobben, Jr., Sidney Hermanson, Robert Erickson, Jr., Edwin Hill, Edwin Erickson, James Carter, David Hill, Billy MacDonald and Edwin Pugh. The group enjoyed an evening of indoor entertainment including a gum chewing contest, various riddle games, hat making contest and singing. Mrs. Barney served a Halloween supper.

New Arrival
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Picel announce the arrival of a baby daughter, Frances Christina, on Wednesday, November 1, at 3:10 a. m. at St. Luke's hospital in Marquette. The baby weighed seven pounds and eight ounces. This is the Picels' third child and their family now includes two daughters and one son.

HOW DR. EDWARDS' HELPED ME LICK CONSTIPATION

"For years Dr. F. M. Edwards, a noted Ohio doctor, successfully relieved his constipated patients with his famous Olive Tablets—now sold by drugstores.

The times are now so serious and the adjustments we must make in our economy are so many and so delicate that every mediocre state government impairs the welfare of the whole country. Recent trends from democratic forms of government to dictatorship have occurred only in those nations where mediocrity and sometimes downright stupidity have prevailed in local and national government circles. In all such cases, this mediocrity and the stupidity of the government officials can be traced to indifference and sheer laziness on the part of the people as a whole.

Need for Able Governors
When I was a young man, the office of governor of a state was a highly honored one. In those days, even the governors of our sparsely settled mountain states, which had so many many problems, had too much good American pride and common sense to go to the Great Father in Washington with hand outstretched, seeking financial aid. In those days, the states were independent and proud of their independence, and well run.

This year 32 of our states will elect governors and 11 of these governors will serve four-year terms. I am a statistician, not a politician. I have no political axes to grind. However, I strongly urge upon businessmen and investors the importance of voting next Tuesday for good men in the selection of governors and other state officials. Capable men are as much needed in these state offices as in the national government in Washington. Sometime, in the not too distant future, the present business boom will be over. When that time comes, we shall have need of strength in government at the state, as well as the national level.

Our State Legislatures
Congress now overshadows our state legislatures, particularly in troublesome times like these when so much of our attention is focused on foreign affairs. Yet, this is no reason why we should neglect our state legislatures as we do. We ought carefully to select worthy men to represent us at our state capitals. When we do elect them, we should see to it that they do our bidding. It is shocking to observe people failing to vote and even ignoring the work of the state legislature after voting. Yet, in states where the legislature meets in a large city, a mere handful of citizens will attend public hearings on very important pending measures. This is a crime against democracy.

Perhaps, we could arouse more interest in our state governments and actually achieve better government if legislative hearings were held at more convenient times. Such hearings are now held

When illness strikes . . .
Blue Cross-Blue Shield
is so truly your
"friend in need"!

"BLUE CROSS COVERED NEARLY $1500 IN HOSPITAL BILLS—AND BLUE SHIELD PAID THE DOCTOR $165."

Talk about the VALUE of Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection—here's the record of one subscriber who spent 120 days in the hospital

First, Blue Cross covered nearly $1,500 of a total $1,536 hospital bill. All the patient paid was $60, which represented the difference between the private room the patient chose to use and the semi-private one provided for in his Blue Cross contract.

And Blue Shield paid the doctor $165 for his services.

(From Case #91-D50102-151 in Blue Cross files)

The Chances Are 1 in 9
YOU Will Have to Go to a Hospital Within the Next Twelve Months!

You can never tell when accident or sudden illness may strike—bringing with them hospital and medical bills that may take months or even years to pay. About one out of nine people will see the inside of a hospital before the year is out!

That's why you—and your family—can't afford to be without BLUE CROSS and BLUE SHIELD health-care protection. Already over 2,000,000 Michigan people are enrolled. The Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plans offer you a wide range of benefits at low cost because they are completely non-profit . . . a voluntary service on the part of the hospitals and doctors who run them.

Here's What Blue Cross-Blue Shield Will Do for You

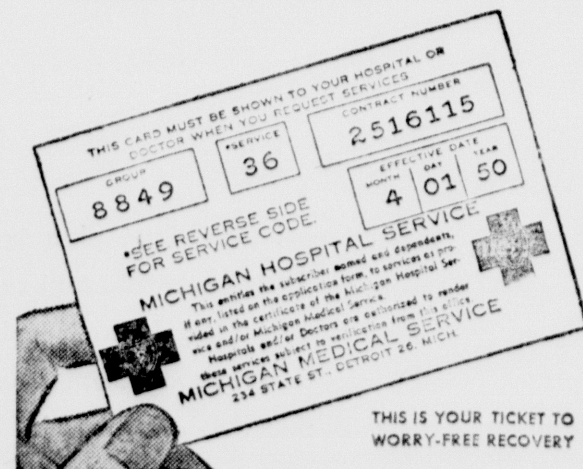

Blue Cross Hospital Plan provides up to 120 days of care in any of Michigan's 178 participating hospitals—NO CASH LIMIT on the benefits covered!

Blue Shield Medical-Surgical Plans pay liberal amounts for stated surgical procedures . . . for your doctor's hospital visits in non-surgical cases. It's worth many times the low cost of these plans just to know you are protected against these bills.

VFW Chief Raps Present Policy On Reservists

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Inequities in present regulations regarding the call to active duty of reservists and guardsmen and of men drafted for the Armed Forces were scored by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Ralls said that the present system of calling National Guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the VFW.

He called for early revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up Armed Forces personnel.

"Men who have served their country," Ralls declared, "have never hesitated to answer that call again; but we do feel that there should be an equalization between those who have never worn a uniform and those men who have previously jeopardized their safety in the nation's interest."

"One glaring inequity seems to be that inactive Reservists with service disabilities ranging up to 30 per cent or more are being recalled and placed on limited active duty. Certainly some of the deferred draftees could also serve on limited duty where some physical qualities may be lacking.

"The VFW is also on record as favoring the advance of the draft age to 35 years and tightening up on deferments which might give the Selective Service Boards a greater opportunity to work out a justifiable program," he said.

"While I understand that the House Armed Services Committee, of which Rep. Carl Vinson is chairman, has under consideration corrective legislation to present to Congress upon its return to Washington on November 27, the VFW feels that something should be done for those who have already been inducted under this unequal setup."

Michigan Voter: PROTECT YOURSELF AND FAMILY!

1 PROTECT YOURSELF Against Imitation Butter

Your right to know—for sure—that there's BUTTER on the table—is threatened by a move to tamper with Michigan's long-standing imitation-BUTTER law. The present law is a GOOD law. It protects you—your family—and the family table. Especially, it also protects you when you "eat out."

Now, with a referendum vote on this subject on the ballot November 7, it's up to you. It's your job to protect yourself against imitation-BUTTER—to make sure you get the real thing. Vote "NO" on Proposal 4, November 7th.

2 PROTECT YOURSELF Against High Milk Prices

In case Michigan's present law—prohibiting substitutes colored yellow in imitation of BUTTER—is rendered ineffective in the November general election . . . thousands of Dairy Farms will be driven out of business. Milk will become scarcer . . . higher in price . . . as it has in other states which now allow imitation-BUTTER to be sold colored yellow. It is no accident that milk prices in cities in those states are 1½ cents a quart higher than milk prices in states (including Michigan) which maintain a protective law against selling imitation-BUTTER colored yellow*. Keep Michigan milk plentiful—reasonable in price. Vote "NO" on Proposal 4, November 7th.

3 PROTECT YOUR OWN and Michigan's Prosperity

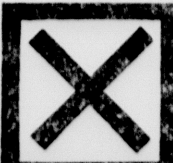

WARNING: The first year Canada allowed substitutes to be colored yellow in imitation of BUTTER cost Dairy Farmers there 50 MILLION DOLLARS. That can happen in Michigan . . . where 600,000 people depend on Dairying for their livelihood . . . with an investment TWICE THAT OF THE ENTIRE WORLD OPERATIONS OF THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY! Reduce Michigan's income by many millions of dollars and you depress the market for all kinds of Michigan goods . . . besides irreparably damaging Michigan's soil and agriculture.

For your own sake . . . for your family's sake . . . for Michigan's sake . . . VOTE "NO"—on Proposal 4—general election, November 7th!

These facts are published by the Dairy Action League, 415 Hollister Building, Lansing, Mich., working with consumer, labor, farm and dairy groups in behalf of keeping Michigan's present and effective no-laws, butter-imitation law. It is financed by the 600,000 Michigan People dependent on dairying.

Talk On Crow And Sioux Indians At Club Meeting

GRAND MARAIS—Mrs. George Dreameer, teacher of kindergarten and first and second grade at the Grand Marais school, and a former teacher at Crow Agency, Montana, and Pineridge Indian reservation in South Dakota presented an interesting and novel lecture on the Crow and Sioux Indian art work at the meeting of the Grand Marais Woman's club held Thursday evening Nov. 2 at the Masonic hall.

Mrs. Dreameer began by saying that as with different nations and countries of the world the various Indian tribes had their own language and that even among the four distinct branches of the Sioux tribe the people could not understand one another. And so began the picture language for any Indian could read what pictures portray.

Picture Language

Wherever they traveled they wrote of their experiences in picture language on well tanned hides which later were rolled for storage in scrolls similar to early parchment. Their lives were pictured on what they called "winter counts" you would have their life history. An Indian band, "Tecoshipie," the speaker said, contains all the members of one family and when a girl marries she leaves her "tecoshipie" and joins her husband's. The Indian would never marry within his "tecoshipie" or even consider marriage to the most distant relative. There are no orphanages nor old folks homes necessary since each family looks after all of its own.

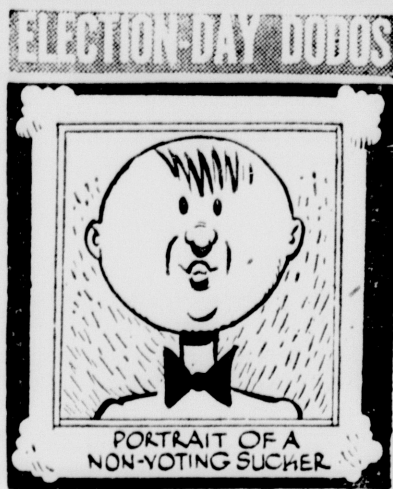

The "Sioux" Indians' favorite color is blue because they consider it a lucky color and their favorite number is four because of the four winds which control their life. They originated the swastika long before it was in use by Hitler in honor of the 4 winds.

They are very neat in their own way of life. Mrs. Dreameer said, with a place for everything and everything in its place. It is only when they attempt to adopt our mode of living that they fail to be so.

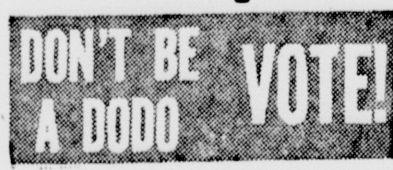

Strange Names

They have many strange names and one Indian child upon entering public school gave his last name as "Smells" changed for the occasion from the family name, "To Stink." The Indian women do beautiful artistic designs in beadwork on dresses, moccasins, etc. Christening moccasins even have soles of beadwork in intricate design. The men's moccasins are made with two tabs behind. The women say this is because the women must always walk behind and the tabs are stepped on to stop their men.

In Indian life the mother is the boss. A man may not speak directly to his mother-in-law as that would be a sign of disrespect. All conversation is carried on through his wife.

Mrs. Dreameer once attended the 100th birthday celebration of an old Indian warrior named He Dog and says she still treasures the present she received. Instead of bringing gifts to He Dog they gave gifts to each other. Among the treasures she values is a war suit formerly belonging to He Dog that boasts 6 Crow scalp locks.

Dresses, etc., are made of skins and beading is attached with sinew. Once an Indian makes a design she will not duplicate it since she makes up a new pattern as she goes along. They have a great love of beauty and decorate everything.

Miniature Cradle

Mrs. Dreameer displayed a miniature model of a papoose cradle with its beautiful beadwork. The cradle is carried on the woman's back when she is walking and a secretary all the way to Long Island and to have it photostated. She stood by while 12 photostats were made.

Macy then transmitted one copy each to Frank Gannett of the Gannett newspapers and White-law Reid of the New York Herald Tribune. Reid, who was at Paul Smiths, N. Y., then telephoned Dewey at Saratoga and gave his assistant, Paul Lockwood, a summary of the letter. This was with the idea that Dewey, knowing of the Hanley letter in advance, might want to reconsider his plan to run for governor.

DEWEY STORMS
Dewey, however, remained outwardly unperturbed. But that night, around midnight, he sent word that he wanted to see Kingsland Macy about "the Hanley letter."

There followed a conference between Macy, Frank Moore, candidate for lieutenant governor, and Hanley's close friend, Ray Richmond. They urged Macy not to take the Hanley letter to the Dewey conference for fear the governor would seize it physically. So Macy gave it to Richmond for safekeeping.

It was also decided that Macy should take a witness with him, and Charles Duryea, brother of the conservation commissioner, strap for hanging makes a nursemaid unnecessary. If the baby is annoying they hang the cradle on a limb where the breezes will lull the infant. Other articles of art work by the Soo Indians also were displayed.

was summoned. By this time it was around 1 a. m., and Dewey was getting impatient. Finally Macy arrived at Dewey's suite with Moore and Duryea at about 1:30 a. m.

The governor was stretched out on the bed. "I've had a helluva day," he said.

Then he went on to tell Macy—for some time a bitter enemy—that they had both been through a lot together, that he had always signed Macy's bills in the legislature and that next year he, Dewey, would not be so active and Frank Moore, prospective lieutenant governor, would be taking care of things.

This cordiality was interrupted by a heated difference over Dewey's statement regarding Hanley's withdrawal. The governor waved a finger under Macy's nose and said: "I'll leave the room."

"No," replied Congressman Macy. "I'm the invited guest. I'll leave."

Dewey calmed down, and Moore remarked: "What about the letter?"

AN EXTRA COPY

This was the first mention of the now famous Hanley letter.

"I understand Joe Hanley has written you a letter," Dewey told Macy, "and I want you to destroy it."

Macy declined. Dewey argued; Macy remained adamant. Dewey jumped up, paced the floor, shook his finger, asked Macy a total of four times to destroy the letter.

"I'll come three-quarters of the way to make peace with you," Dewey argued, "if you'll come a quarter of the way by giving up that letter."

Finally Macy said: "Someone else has a copy of the letter over whom I have no control—Jim Leary."

"Leary!" exclaimed Dewey. "He's an attorney for the race-track interests. That's terrible, terrible."

At this news the governor appeared almost on the verge of a collapse. The meeting ended at 3 a. m.

Dewey still had not been nominated by the convention, and Macy with other Hanley friends seriously considered going on the convention floor next day and reading the letter. They also considered warning Dewey that they would read the letter. However, they did neither.

Since then, two attempts have been made by important GOP leaders to get Macy to destroy the original of the Hanley letter—one by Congressman Dean Taylor, who argued with Macy that Hanley's signature was a forgery; the other by kindly ex-Speaker Joe Martin, who put a slew of nickels in a pay phone to call Macy and suggest that he burn the letter.

However, Macy still has the original, together with eight of the 12 photostats which his secretary had made.

Germfask

GERMFASK—A regular business meeting of the Auxiliary to the Edward James Moran VFW Post No. 8962 was held on Thursday evening November 2 at the Germfask Community building.

She was accompanied by Mrs. Eitel McLean and Mrs. Gladys Weber also of the Schoolcraft Post. It was decided to hold a bake sale on November 11 at Bill's sport shop with Mrs. James Burns and Mrs. Charles Cornell in charge. It was also decided to have a masquerade dance at the Germfask Community building. Prizes will be given for the best historic costume.

Veterans Recalled To Duty Not Eligible For Benefit Payments

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Veterans Administration urged war veterans who are receiving VA benefit payments to notify it promptly if they are recalled to active military duty.

Veterans who return to uniform are not permitted to receive benefits such as GI bill subsistence or compensation for service-connected disabilities. VA said veterans who receive such payments for any period after they reenter active duty should return them promptly, or they will remain on VA records as an overpayment and a debit against the recipients.

"I place economy among the first and most important virtues and public debt as the greatest of dangers... if we can prevent the government from wasting the labors of the people under the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy. The same prudence which in private life would forbid our paying our money for unexplained projects, forbids it in the disposition of public money."

—Thomas Jefferson

To Defend Freedom Abroad— We Must Cut Expenses at Home

THE third President of the United States, author of the Statutes of Virginia, the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights, was well aware of the dangers of public debt.

The sum of 257 billion dollars (257 thousand million) would have been incomprehensible to the man who paid but eleven and a quarter million dollars to Napoleon for all the territory between the Mississippi River and the present Pacific Coast states. Our national debt is now 22,800 times the cost to this country of acquiring the states of Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Minnesota, Colorado and Wyoming.

The national budget for the one fiscal year 1950-51 of 41 thousand million dollars is 3,609 times the amount Jefferson paid for the huge territory comprised in the Louisiana Purchase.

With international crises forced on us by a power that well understands how it can bankrupt and so destroy us, it is of the utmost importance that every effort be made to save on domestic projects.

Everything should be allocated for defense and freedom. Nothing should be spent for doubtful improvements or social gains that can wait on a more opportune period in our history.

Perhaps it will come as a shock to you to know that before the Korean crisis arose you already owed $1,740—your share of the national debt of 257 thousand million. If there are four in your family, your family owed $6,960. This is not just a theoretical figure. You will be taxed to pay the interest on this debt which amounts to six billion dollars (six thousand million) annually.

The U. S. Department of Commerce estimates that federal, state and local taxes in 1949 aggregated almost 54 billion dollars (54 thousand million), an average of $359 for every person in the country. For the average family of four this means taxes (direct and indirect) of more than $27 a week.

Now that we are facing a vast rearming program your taxes will rise more and more unless we can scale down domestic spending. Eliminate unnecessary highways to favor local interest, useless government price supports, files in sextuplicate and office holders in triplicate.

In Congress, men like Senators Byrd and Douglas have again and again tried to whittle down unnecessary expenses without much success. Not until the people—and that means you—warn their Congressmen and Senators to support measures of the economy-minded members of the House and Senate will their efforts be attended with success.

The whole free world is dependent on our solvency as well as on our arms. Our greatest asset in the fight for freedom is a healthy economy. The way to keep it healthy is to eliminate all needless spending. Write your Congressman now!

Senator Douglas Tells How Some of the Money Can Be Saved

Aside from defense costs and the interest on the national debt, operating expenses for the fiscal year 1951 will be 23 billion (23 thousand million) dollars. Where has the money gone?

Senator Douglas of Illinois provides some answers: Agricultural Department figures show that $1,250,000 a day, $1,000 a minute, are spent to pay storage bills, loan interest and spoilage costs connected with farm subsidies.

The "Pork Barrel" bill for dams, flood control, etc., will take $1,500,000,000 or 15 hundred million this year but which Senator Douglas estimates will cost 30 billion (30 thousand million) by the time the projects are finished.

Forty-four Federal Agencies will spend, according to the Hoover Commission, another 15 and a half billion (15 thousand five hundred million) for some sort of free medical service to one out of six Americans.

Another billion will be spent for increased Federal employment in agencies that dispense still other billions to some 21,000,000 Americans.

Local Interest High In Representative and Clerk Race, Expect Large Vote

Principal local interest in the general election Tuesday is in the race for state representative between John F. Wood, Republican, and John W. Kelly, Democrat, and in the contest for county clerk and register of deeds between G. Leslie Bouschor, Republican incumbent, and Edward J. Doyle, Democrat.

Both Kelly and Wood are residents of Manistique but are well known throughout the Alger district which embraces Schoolcraft, Alger, Luce and Mackinac counties.

The only other local contest is for the two coroner offices, being sought by Edward V. Jackson and George Morton, Republican incumbents, and Victor B. Beaudry, Democrat.

A substantial vote is expected at the election in view of the local contests and the state and congressional contests. Polls will open at 7 a. m. Tuesday and will remain open until 8 p. m., EST.

Voters also will cast their ballots on four amendment proposals and on a separate non-partisan ballot for circuit court commissioner. George Wood is the unopposed candidate for the circuit court position.

Six parties are listed on the general ballot but voting is expected to be concentrated in the Republican and Democratic columns. Other parties are Progressive, Prohibition, Social Labor, and Socialist Workers.

Candidates of the two major parties follow:

Governor, Harry F. Kelly, R., and G. Mennen Williams, D., lieutenant governor; William C. Vanenberg, R., and John W. Connolly, D., secretary of state; Fred M. Alger, Jr., R., and Philip A. Hart, D., attorney general; Frank G. Millard, R., and Stephen J. Roth, D., state treasurer; D. Hale Brake, R., and Maurice C. Eveland, D., auditor general; John B. Martin, R., and Margaret Price, D.

Congressman, 11th district, Charles E. Potter, R., and Fred L. Hanscom, D.; state senator, 30th district, William A. Ellsworth, R., and Edward H. Gibbs, D.; state representative, John F. Wood, R., and John W. Kelly, D.

Prosecuting attorney, William J. Sheahan, R.; sheriff, Howard A. Hewitt, R.; county clerk and register of deeds, G. Leslie Bouschor, R., and E. J. Doyle, D.; treasurer, Laura A. Williams, R.; drain commissioner, John I. Bellaire, R.; coroner, Edward V. Jackson and George Morton, R., and Victor B. Beaudry, D.; surveyor, Carl Christensen, R.

Students Learn Of Voting Procedure At School Of Instruction Here Friday

Student boards which will handle the mock election tomorrow in Manistique junior and senior high schools will conduct the voting in the same manner as the various official election boards.

Approximately 30 representatives from the school election boards attended a special school of instruction Friday afternoon at the court house conducted by G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk.

The students were given complete information on how to handle an election, including information on keeping poll books, handing out ballots, and tabulating the vote. Students also were instructed on how to determine a spoiled ballot.

The county clerk provided two complete sets of election supplies for the mock school election, one for the junior high school and one for the senior.

Students will vote on instruction ballots furnished by the board of education. Each student voter will have to mark three ballots, one covering the general list of party candidates, one on four amendment proposals, and one non-partisan.

The county clerk expressed the hope that student members of such mock election boards would extend the regular county school of instruction whenever it is given. Such instruction and training in election procedure, he said, will, over the years, give many high school graduates a better understanding of elections and their importance.

Preceding the special course for students Friday, a general school of instruction was held for inspectors from the various boards of the city and county. Thirty-three inspectors out of a total of 39 were present.

Lincoln Scouts Hold Informal Party On Friday

In observance of Girl Scout week the three troops at Lincoln school entertained at an informal party Friday in the school gymnasium with 85 members, mothers and friends in attendance.

The program opened with the presentation of colors, with the intermediate Scouts in horseshoe formation and the Brownies in a double semi-circle. The American flag was carried by Betty LaLonde, the world flag by Sandra Christensen, and the Troop flag by Verna Jo VanDyck.

Color guards were Collette Popour and Susan Cook. The audience participated in singing "America" and the pledge of allegiance, and the Scouts repeated their own promises.

Sandra Christensen read a paper that she had prepared on the life of Juliette Low and the history of Girl Scouting, after which the Brownies sang the Brownie Smile Song.

In keeping with the week, Kay Abrahamson read from the Girl Scout handbook, the History of the American Flag respects due it, and the story of the World flag and its meanings.

er, who has been announcing the program turned the meeting over to Mrs. Vilas Young, Intermediate leader, who made the following introductions: Collette Popour, a new Intermediate Scout who had just received her second class badge; Mrs. John Hanson local Girl Scout commissioner; two council members, Mrs. T. H. Recque, organization chairman, and Miss Winifred Orr, program chairman. Leaders presented were Miss Irja Juntala, Mrs. John Blomquist, Brownie Troop 7; Mrs. John Barr, and Mrs. Donald McKenzie; Brownie Troop 2; Mrs. William Hamill, Intermediate troop 5, and Mrs. Leonard Stoor of the junior high troop who assisted the committee.

Troop 7 presented "The Muffin Man" and "Jump Jim Crow". Troop 2, "Jenny Crack Corn" and "Point Your Little Toe", and all took part in the "Elephant Game".

Refreshments were served from a table centered with flags and the Trefoll candelabra. Miss Winifred Orr presided at the coffee service and Miss Juntala at the orange.

Plans for observing Saturday's "Out of Doors Day" were postponed because of weather forecasts.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ekdahl have returned from Bayview, where they had been visiting with their cousin, Miss Blanche Smith.

DAV Will Sell Forget-Me-Nots

Annual Drive Will Be November 10-11

The annual Forget-Me-Not sale sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans will be conducted in Manistique on Friday and Saturday, November 10 and 11, it is announced by Elmer Richey, commander of the local chapter.

Funds contributed by purchasers of the little blue flowers will be used by the chapter for its work among this city's disabled veterans, their families and their dependents, as well as the widows and children of deceased veterans, Richey said.

"I want the people of this community to know that when they buy a Forget-Me-Not from one of our volunteer workers they are contributing directly to helping their own neighbors — neighbors who were disabled in defense of our great nation," Richey stated.

"These disabled veterans have sacrificed as much as it is humanly possible to sacrifice and still continue to live," he continued. "The coins dropped in our little Forget-Me-Not boxes are little in themselves, but added to other contributions they go a long way in making life just a little bit easier for our disabled defenders, their dependents, and their widows".

Support For No. 2 Proposal Urged By Council Chairman

Directors of Schoolcraft county today were urged by Mrs. Walter Schaefer, chairman of the Council of Social Agencies, to vote favorably on amendment proposal No. 2 which would authorize the state to borrow money to build and equip hospitals for the care and treatment of mental cases and for tuberculosis cases.

The Council of Social Agencies, organized last spring following a community institute conducted by the University of Michigan extension service, is representative of 14 boards and agencies in the county having jurisdiction over social welfare functions.

In urging public support of this amendment, Mrs. Schaefer directed attention to the overcrowded condition and inadequate facilities of existing hospitals to care for the mentally afflicted. She pointed to the fact that in many counties there are waiting lists of people needing hospitalization in mental institutions, with no indication of when they might be able to receive treatment. Schoolcraft county, she reported, has between 25 and 30 patients in such hospitals now.

Spirited Contests In General Election

Gladstone electors will go to the polls on Tuesday to cast ballots for federal, state and county officers and also voice their opinion on four amendments at the general election.

Polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and remain open until 8 o'clock in the evening. Campaigning has been spirited and it is expected that a heavy vote will be recorded here.

The split board system will be used to handle the election here, one board working the balloting while another does the counting in the evening after the polls close. Use of fresh workers after the others have put in a 13-hour day has proved satisfactory in previous tests.

The boards: Precinct 1—Mrs. Alice Luce, Mrs. Anna Prais, Mrs. August Feldt and Mrs. Axel Holm. Counters are Mrs. Willard Norby, Mrs. Ira Zimmel and Lou LaCombe. Precinct 2—Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, Mrs. Hugh McMillan, Mrs. Frank J. Miller, Mrs. L. J. Smith. Counters are Mrs. Joe Butch, Mrs. J. S. Sword and Mrs. Emerald Vanlerbergh. Precinct 3—Mrs. Rose Louis, Mrs. J. I. Chase, Mrs. Charles Creten and Mrs. John Strand. The counters include Mrs. Donald Chase, Mrs. Larry Johnston and Mason Meyer. Precinct 4—Mrs. Mayme Richards, Mrs. Emily Masterson, Mrs. Charles Coon and Mary Stock. Counters are Mrs. Mable Minor, Mrs. Francis Londo and Mrs. Ed Eldridge.

Jim Norick Shoots Banded Black Duck

Jim Norick, city police officer, recently shot a black duck which had been banded. The small aluminum band bore the numbers 497-83351 and the wording "Notify F and Wildlife Service, Washington, D. C."

Officer Norick has forwarded the information to Washington but thus far has not received an answer. It is anticipated that the federal agency will notify Mr. Norick as to where the duck was banded, when, and if there is any record of its migrations.

Roberts-Rasmussen
Miss Verna Mae Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roberts, sr., Gladstone, Route one, and Donald Wayne Rasmussen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen, 635 North Ninth street, city, were united in marriage at a ceremony performed at 10 o'clock on Saturday, October 28, in the Holy Family Rectory at Flat Rock by the Rev. Fr. Roland Dion.

Miss Elizabeth Roberts and Frank Paquin were the attendants.

For her wedding the bride wore a green gabardine suit with yellow and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow mums. Her attendant chose a cinnamon brown gabardine suit with dark green accessories. Pink mums formed her corsage.

The bride's mother was attired in a light blue crepe dress with matching accessories. Pink roses formed her corsage.

A wedding breakfast was served at 11:30 at the bride's parental home with a reception being held in the afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock.

They are making their home in Gladstone following a wedding trip to Milwaukee. The groom is employed at the Northwestern Vencer and Plywood Corp.

Out of town persons attending were, Lawrence Roberts, Mrs.

Leah LaFontaine and Dennis LaFontaine of Detroit.

Danny's Party
Danny Ryan celebrated his 6th birthday anniversary Sunday by entertaining a group of little friends at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ryan, 1201 Wisconsin avenue.

Games were enjoyed during the afternoon after which a tasty birthday luncheon was served. Gold and blue were used in decorations. An attractively decorated birthday cake centered the table.

Present were Joanne Sepic, Stephen Cowen, Marilyn Berg, Jimmy Cartwright, Ricky Nelson, Duane Smith, Jerry Cartwright and Jerry ReRoshia.

Sportswriters Honor Monson And Menominee

Coach Harry Monson of Iron River, an Escanaba high school grid great, has been named "Upper Peninsula coach of the year."

Monson, chosen by the U. P. Sportswriters' association here Saturday, will receive the Gladstone Rotary club award Tuesday night.

After four close votes, Menominee was unanimously named winner of the much debated Barber trophy, losing out Iron River and Newberry.

Mickey McMahon, Iron River's sensational halfback, was named "U. P. Player of the year."

The sportswriters also picked their All U. P. team, which will be announced late next week.

Ripley Is President

They named Jim Ripley, Menominee Herald-Leader sports editor, as president, succeeding E. O. (Buck) Erickson of the Iron Mountain News, Jim Trethewey of the Marquette Mining Journal was named vice president and George Mathison of the Delta Reporter was named secretary-treasurer.

The association accepted an invitation of the Marquette Mining Journal sports department to be its guest at a midwinter meeting at a date to be named later.

It recommended that the State High school athletic association rescind its ban on coaches and of officials being associated with the U. P. All Star football game at Negaunee. The sportswriters contend that the all star game is established and the boys' interests would be served better by having Michigan coaching and officiating.

Won 6 Games

Monson's team won eight games in a row this year, seven of them against Upper Peninsula teams. They defeated Bessemer, Calumet, Norway, Niagara, Kingsford, Stambaugh, Houghton and Iron Mountain.

In five years, Monson's Iron River teams have won 28 games, lost 10. Five of those defeats came in his first year.

He was graduated from Escanaba high school and Michigan State college. He had an excellent coaching record at Reed City before entering the service. After the war, he became coach at Iron River.

It took four votes of the sportswriters before Menominee had the required seven votes of the 13 writers present to win the Barber trophy. Menominee's representative schedule—it played Ironwood in the west, and Calumet in the Copper Country, Soo in the east, Escanaba in the south and the Iron Range teams—was an important factor in its selection over Iron River and Newberry.

Sportswriters and the papers they represented included Anton (Pops) Kravich of the Houghton Mining Gazette, Ray Randall, of the Iron River Reporter, Donald Meyers of the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill, Johnny Bouchard of the Newberry News, Glenn Gregg of the Soo News, George Mathison of the Gladstone Delta Reporter, Tom Fellow of the Negaunee Iron Herald, Dave Fridling of the Norway Current, Bud Gilbride, Bob Biolo, Ken Lowe and Jim Trethewey of the Marquette Mining Journal, Buck Erickson of the Iron Mountain News, Jim Ripley of the Menominee Herald Leader, Eugene Maki of the Wakefield News and Charles Larson of the Escanaba Daily Press.

81, He Walks 34 Miles In Race

DETROIT — (P)—When you're 81 you're competing in a 34 mile national walking race on a cold, windy day?

Tom Brown of Milwaukee did yesterday. And Brown, who looks like Santa Claus, was still striding briskly when he reached the finish line of the national AAU 50,000-meter walking championship.

He didn't win but he finished 11th in the field of 13 with his white beard and long white hair flying in the cold wind.

The winner was Bill Mihalo, veteran Detroit walker star. He finished in five hours and 31 minutes to earn the right to represent the United States in the Pan-American games at Buenos Aires in February.

After finishing, the aged Brown said, "It may be my last race. At 81, I'm getting a bit old for this."

DETROIT — Tony Novitsky, University of Detroit golfer, got a workout when he recently repeated as winner of the annual fall intramural golf tournament. He fired a 70 in the semi-finals to edge Sam Kociski by one stroke. He then carded a 67 to trounce Roy Iceberg, 1950 Titan links squad captain, in the finals. 4 and 3, Kociski, a member of Michigan's famed golfing family, was titleist in the 1948 tournament.

Pappy's Bears Sniffing Roses

SAN FRANCISCO — (P)—California's Bears are pawing at the Rose bowl again.

Echoes of Saturday's 14-7 win over Washington were still sounding today on the Berkeley campus. Only U.C.L.A. and Stanford stand between the league leaders and a third successive visit to the big bowl.

In defeating the Huskies on their own Seattle field, the Bears played their greatest game of the season. Scouts of teams yet to face California were impressed by the stunning offense and charging defense displayed by Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf's crew.

This may well be a stronger club than the preceding two. Waldorf led to the Rose Bowl to be defeated 17-14 by Ohio State and 20-14 by Northwestern.

MSC Rips Hoosiers; Eyes Gophers

EAST LANSING — (P)—Michigan State's high-balling Spartans, who disproved one jinx Saturday with a 35-0 football pasting of Indiana, get a crack at another, personal one this week.

They take on the once golden, but now only gilded Gophers of Minnesota in the final game of the year at East Lansing. After that, only Pittsburgh remains between them and their best season since 1934.

The jinx that they disproved, in masterful fashion, was that teams that beat Notre Dame one week get beaten themselves the next. The victim, Indiana, along with Purdue, both fell after shelacking the Irish.

The jinx that the Spartans must overcome now is that they finish up the season in a weak fashion. Last year, in their next to last game, they were upset by an Oregon State eleven, 25-20.

And the year before that, in the season finale, they were tied by Santa Clara, another underdog team. Only in Coach Biggie Munn's first year, 1947, did the boys finish strong, although pressed hard by Temple.

The game with the Gophers, who have only a tie with Michigan to brighten their season record so far, will be the first in a new series with Minnesota. A sell-out crowd of 50,087 fans is assured.

In the Indiana game, the Spartans exhibited a pulverizing ground offensive, led by Sonny Grandelius. The big senior put himself in the All-America ranks with three touchdowns.

The first part of the game was played in a wet snowstorm that made the ball slippery and crippled the heralded passing tactics of Indiana Quarterback Lou D'Alchille.

Grandelius, however, found the mud and cold to his liking and ripped off 177 yards for the day. The other markers were made by LeRoy Crane and Ed Timmerman, the latter on a 60-yard run after a pass interception.

Michigan State rolled to 339 yards on the ground, as compared with only 30 for Indiana. The Hoosiers fumbled eight times, with Michigan State recovering six. The Spartans also intercepted four of Indiana's 32 passes.

Red Wings Beat Boston Bruins

(By The Associated Press)

The Detroit Red Wings have closed the gap that separates them from the first place Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey league slightly. But they still have a long way to go before the job is complete.

At the moment, the Wings are five points behind the Maple Leafs, but before the start of last night's action they trailed by seven markers. They feasted on the hapless Boston Bruins though, grinding out a 4-2 victory, while the leaders were idle.

'Who Trun Dat?' Ask Packers; Lose, 41-21

BALTIMORE — (P)—A hungry Baltimore Colt team banged over 27 points in a fourth-period outburst to overwhelm the Green Bay Packers 41-21 and take their first National football league victory yesterday.

A crowd of 12,971 went wild in Memorial stadium as they saw the Colts win at home for the first time since 1948. Baltimore had lost 19 straight games, including seven exhibitions this season and their first six contests in the National league.

The long-suffering fans came out of the stands to the sidelines during the last minute when the Colts scored two of their last period touchdowns.

Baltimore went into the final 15 minutes of play behind 21-14 and had their backs to the wall. Then the dikes opened wide.

Fullback Jim Spavital exploded for a 96-yard touchdown run, his third excursion over the goal. But Rex Grossman was slow kicking the extra point and it was blocked, leaving Green Bay ahead 21-20.

The Colts, playing like animals at the sight of blood, intercepted three passes by Paul Christman and Tobin Rote and ran them back for touchdowns. End Jim Owens went 20 yards with the all-important one that put the Colts ahead and then in the last 30 seconds halfback Frank Spaniel returned another 35 yards and halfback Herb Rich followed with a 50-yard run back.

Alexander, Diamond Ace, Buried Today

ST. PAUL — (P)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the renowned pitcher of three decades ago, was buried today in the peaceful surroundings of a little cemetery just southwest of here.

Alexander, who tied a major league pitching record with 373 victories in 696 games, died Saturday at the age of 63 of a heart ailment. He had been in failing health for more than a year.

The American Legion will conduct a military service.

Alexander broke into baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies, winning 28 games for them his first year. Besides the Phils, he played for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs during his major league career which covered 19 years, from 1911 to 1930.

Cleveland Browns Trip Cardinals

NEW YORK — (P)—The race in the National football league is well into the stretch and both conferences today, shaped up as three-team scrambles.

In the American section, the Cleveland Browns bounced back into first place, earning a hard-fought victory yesterday over the Chicago Cardinals, 10-7. The Philadelphia Eagles were dumped into a second-place tie with the New York Giants when they lost a 9-7 thriller to the Pittsburgh Steelers. The Giants won a close one, beating the Washington Redskins, 24-21.

Cleveland has won six games and lost two, while the Eagles and Giants hold 5-2 marks.

The Yanks, who top the National conference with a 6-1 record, took yesterday off but had nothing to exhaust over. The Los Angeles Rams and Chicago Bears, the New Yorkers' closest pursuers, both won to tighten up the issue. The Rams whipped a stubborn team of San Francisco 49ers, 28-21, while the Bears trimmed Detroit's Lions, 35-21. Los Angeles' record now is 6-2 and the Bears', 6-2.

SLICK — A new type of skis feature a sandwich construction. They are made of hickory with laminated plastic bonded to top and bottom. They are reported to be faster and more durable than wooden skis.

Mighty SMU Is Tumbled

NEW YORK — (P)—Thirty-one teams, including eight in the major category, remained unbeaten and untied in college football today.

Mighty Southern Methodist and seven others dropped from the elite group over the weekend. The Mustangs, top team in the Associated Press' poll last week, lost, 23-20, to Texas Saturday.

The major teams left with clean marks are Army, Oklahoma, Kentucky, California, Miami (Fla.), Princeton, Wyoming and Loyola (Calif.).

Marquette and Munising dominated choices on the Great Lakes conference football team selected by coaches at a meeting in Marquette.

Jack (Bobo) Cole, 215 pound Gladstone boy who divided his time between tackle and fullback, was named to a first team tackle spot while Don Quick, stellar 145-pound Manistique boy, was named at an end post.

Marquette landed four players —End Frank Young, Guard Ray Bowers and Backs Robert Redman and Carl Nystrom.

Two For Newberry

Munising had Dennis Mellon at tackle, Richard Masters at center and Arthur Gamelin at a backfield spot.

Newberry's undefeated team produced Jack Taylor at a guard spot and Joe Villemure, a back.

Capt. Bill Sundling of Gladstone was given honorable mention as were Igy Babaladels, tackle, and Richard Burns of Manistique.

Others given honorable mention include: Ends—Boucher, Munising; Heinz Newberry, St. John, Negaunee; Stroh, Marquette.

Tackles—MacIntyre, Newberry; Clark, Newberry; Adams, Marquette; Nystrom, Marquette.

Guards—Garceau, Ishpeming; Stenhouse, Newberry.

Center—Rushton, Marquette.

Backs—Lemin, Ishpeming; Fulcher, Munising; Helgren, Negaunee, Mroz, Soo; Parks, Newberry.

Hart, Layne Star But Bears Win

DETROIT — (P)—Led by Leon Hart and Bobby Layne, who teamed in a brilliant aerial exhibition, the Detroit Lions battled the Chicago Bears all the way yesterday before dropping a 35-21 decision at Briggs stadium.

It was the fourth straight setback for Detroit.

Even in losing, the Lions wrote two new club passing records as they fought against overwhelming odds.

Layne set a new Lions record by completing 23 of 45 passes for 374 yards and one touchdown. Hart, whose performance up to yesterday was far short of expectations, showed a lot of his old Notre Dame pass catching form as he snagged nine for 154 yards and a score.

NOTICE OF CHATEL MORTGAGE SALE

DEFAULT having been made in a certain chattel mortgage made by L. Edward Berg, hereinafter referred to as the mortgagor, to the First National Bank of Hermansville, Michigan, dated March 10, 1944, and said First National Bank of Hermansville, Michigan, having taken possession of the goods and chattels covered by said mortgage by reason of said default and for the reason that it considers itself insecure, upon which said chattel mortgage there is claimed to be due and remaining unpaid at the date hereof the sum of twenty-one hundred and seventy-eight and 4/100 ($21,784.40) Dollars, together with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from July 1, 1950, to date.

NOTICE is therefore given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said chattel mortgage, the undersigned will sell at public auction, in bulk, to the highest bidder, on November 10, 1950, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at the store formerly conducted and occupied by said L. Edward Berg, at Hermansville, Michigan, the goods and chattels covered by said chattel mortgage, for the purpose of satisfying the balance due on said chattel mortgage and the note secured thereby, including principal and interest, storage, expenses of sale and the cost of said foreclosure sale as provided in said chattel mortgage, including the surplus if any to the said L. Edward Berg.

The property covered and described in said chattel mortgage and to be sold as aforesaid is as follows: The entire stock of goods, wares, merchandise and personal property of every nature and description, including groceries, provisions, green and dried fruits, vegetables, fresh and dried meats and fish, poultry, druggists' sundries, cigars, tobacco and smokers' articles, canned and bottled goods, dry goods, notions; also the fixtures, store furniture, scales, refrigerators, showcases, display stands, racks, butcher's tools, cash registers and other property owned by said mortgagor or hereafter acquired by said mortgagor in the conduct of the business of said store.

Sale will be held on Central Standard Time. The chattels offered for sale may be inspected and inventoried at any time from this date to date of sale by calling on the undersigned.

Dated at Hermansville, Michigan, this 1st day of November, A. D. 1950.

Turkey Handlers Cautioned; Parrot Fever Suspected

By FRANK CAREY
ST. LOUIS (AP)—With Thanksgiving approaching, handlers and buyers of turkeys were urged to be on the lookout for a previously unsuspected infection in the birds.

Dr. J. V. Irons of the Texas State Department of Health said there is highly suggestive evidence that these barnyard bishots can harbor the virus of "parrot fever" which is transmissible to man and can be fatal.

He added, however, that proper cooking destroys all germs that may be present in meat or poultry.

Definitely known to occur among parrots, love birds, pigeons, cats, chickens and even songbirds, this virus results in about 200 known human cases annually with a few deaths, Irons told a reporter.

While the occurrence is relatively low, he said, the disease is a matter of public health significance. And now, he continued, the strong suspicion that turkeys are a previously overlooked source of virus calls for increased vigilance.

Parrot fever ranges in human cases from mild influenza-like attacks to severe feverish ailments resembling pneumonia.

Irons said an outbreak of the disease occurred in Giddings, Tex., in the fall of 1948, with 20 cases, of whom three died. Most of those affected were Negro women who had been almost exclusively engaged in picking pin feathers from turkeys at a local poultry plant.

He suggested butchers wear rubber gloves at all times while handling the birds as the virus could get on the workers' bodies or into the air from internal discharges of the birds.

Pranksters Busy At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS—Mischievous heads and hands were busy on the streets of Grand Marais long past the midnight hour of Halloween night. The sound of cars and trucks cruising about with shouting and singing of occupants filled the air until the wee hours of the morning November 1 and daylight showed the evidence of people's deviltry—not small people's, either.

Fish net reels had been carried up mysteriously from the docks lining the bay and graced the road and walk in front of the Farmer Masse and Charles Hess homes. Then entrance to the Grand Marais shopping center was blocked this year by an old car, preferred by the proprietors, however, to the pile of compost that served the purpose in 1949.

Various streets in the community were partially barricaded by old posts, wagons, etc.

As usual the younger folks enjoyed their customary "trick or treat" leaving behind them joy and laughter for the grownups and only now and then a trace of soap and wax.

Some of the high school girls dyed their hair various hues with food coloring for a stunt that was different.

Isabella

Benefit Party
ISABELLA—A benefit party for the Isabella community hall will be held at the hall Wednesday evening, Nov. 8. The program will begin at 8. The public is invited and each one is asked to have his silverware donation at this time.

Dress-Up Party
Harmony club members of Isabella held a dress-up party at their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Felix Cavemberg. Games were played, prizes going to Mrs. Caleb Johnson and Mrs. Barney Turan. Guest prize was presented Mrs. Florence Cavemberg. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Isadore Bonifas will entertain the club at its next meeting.

Russian Made Vital In East Germany

BERLIN—P—Learning Russian has become the most important thing to do at school for the boys and girls of East Berlin.

The education department of the Communist East Sector administration has ordered an investigation to be made of every case of failure in Russian, which is a compulsory subject.

If it is confirmed that student failed "because of open or concealed resistance against the Russian language," he or she cannot be promoted, the department says.

Ruark Refrains From Forecasts

Admits He Doesn't Know Politics

By ROBERT C. RUARK
CINCINNATI—I am sitting on no limb in these elections, because I figure I am a fairly average guy, which is to say I know nothing much. I talk to California and they say out there that Jimmy Roosevelt hasn't got a prayer to beat Earl Warren, but I remember somebody said Truman was a do-funct duck in the last thing, too, and my, how rosy were the cheeks of the experts next day.

If I were a betting man—which God forbid—my money would be nested on Robert Alphonso Taft here in Ohio, except for the fact that the temper of the people is almost impossible to test these days, politically, and you sure can't make book on it.

The best object lesson I know in the frailty of political permanence is the governor of Alabama, Mr. Large James Folsom. Folsom got elected to the state house by the largest majority ever recorded in Alabama. A few short months later his loyal constituents didn't even think enough of him to elect him to a delegate's job in the national convention at Philadelphia. Same people, same candidate, except that the voters just got surly.

That Truman Speech

I also recall Mr. Truman at that convention. They kept the poor guy sitting in a camp chair in the alley, so dead was his cause and flimsy his chances. He came on literally after the acrobats, early in the morning. He sparked off real loud and mad over the TV, on which I heard him after knocking out a piece of deathless prose about Vice-President Barkley or somebody.

Mr. Truman's speech narrowly avoided making me immortal as a prophet. I shelved the other story and wrote a thing which said that if Harry kept hitting the same notes on his campaign, he would whip the trousers off the smug and confident Dr. Dewey. I copyread this effusion in the presence of witnesses, and then touted myself off my own effort. "This," said I, "is ridiculous. Truman couldn't beat Adolf Hitler in a popularity contest in a DP camp."

CIO Rubber Stamp

So I tore up the story and crawled out on the limb with the rest of the experts, and have been hating myself in the morning ever since.

The people I have talked to in Ohio are firm on two counts. One faction says that Mr. Taft will be re-elected over Jumping Joe Ferguson or else the world is wrecked and free enterprise will perish from the earth. They also say Mr. Ferguson is a rubber stamp for the CIO.

The other faction says Mr. Taft has not the chance of a poorly clad Chinaman; that Mr. Ferguson cannot miss, and that Mr. Taft is but rubber stamp for the vested interests. I am moved to say here that I never saw an interest with a vest on it, but aside from that refrain from opinion.

I don't know, I just don't know, and I don't believe that there is an expert alive who does. The situation is so jumbled that ol' Massa Barkley, out stumping for the Democrats, praises Republicans and hatchets the Brannan plan, an agricultural cutie designed to snare all the farmers for the Truman administration.

We have a graven image of the Taft-Ferguson campaign, and I still don't know if that ever-loving common man is as upset about Rapid Robert and Jumping Joe as we make out. If the likes of Mr. Dewey and Mr. Taft are the GOP's last best hope, the honest man can say that the GOP could deal with a little more political sexiness. But there again, the likes of Mr. Jimmy Roosevelt and Mr. Walter Lynch and Mr. Warren and Mr. Ferguson are not all jumped out with appeal, either, and I quit neutral. I suspect that the answer is more men with more muscle, but to now we do not seem to be mass-producing same.

The first machine ever used in making shoes was a clamping press invented to attach leather soles to shoe uppers.

Where does MR. ERLANDSEN Stand on COMMUNISM?

THIS IS A FACT:

A bill (Senate Bill No. 43) authorizing the Commissioner of the Michigan State Police to create a subversive activities investigation division was passed by the Legislature at the last special session.

From the official proceedings of the House of Representatives, Journal No. 50, dated Thursday, August 31, 1950, it is recorded that

MR. ERLANDSEN VOTED "NO"
